HOME OF U. S. AMBASSADOR HIT BY BOMB

Nazis Stage Third Raid on Moscow Using Planes In Relays 5½ Hours.

AMERICANS UNHURT

Soviet Army Reported Making Brilliant Stand Along Central Front.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW — Windows on two sides of the residence of United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt were blown in by a bomb during the third successive night of German air assault on Moscow last night.

The raid, carried out in relays, again lasted five and one-half hours, but Russians declared today that it, like its predecessors, was a failure.

No officers of the United States embassy were in the ambassador's residence, Spasso house. Four American newspapermen who were there at the time were unhurt.

Curtains were ripped and rugs and furniture were showered with glass.

The Red army communique, again reporting fierce night fighting in the directions of Porkhov, Polotsk-Nevel, Smolensk and Zhitomir, indicated there had been no significan change on the long front facing Germany.

The Red army's stand on the central sector was pictured as the most brilliant resistance of the war and Russian troops were said to be still holding on grimly in the Smolensk sector a week after the Germans struck in that direction.

In the southern zone, however, heavy combat was said to be continuing in the region of Zhitomir and along the Bessarabian border, west and south of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine.

Though approximately 150 planes were estimated to have taken part in last night's assault on the capital, authorized sources said only a few had penetrated the curtain of steel flung up by anti-aircraft defenses.

Some casualties were acknowledged, but many of the bombs were said to have been dropped

Union Asks O-B Recognition and U. S. Mediation

Union employes of the Ohio Brass company took no strike action at their meeting last night, but asked for recognition by the company of the union as sole bargaining rights for all employes and requested the federal department of labor to mediate their dispute with the compnay.

Last night's meeting, held at the UERW quarters above the Park theater, followed separate conferences between officials of Local 758 and company officials with a federal labor conciliator in Cleveland over the discharge of Joseph Sferro, a foundryman.

Richard Niebur, field representative of the union, said after the meeting that a telegram had been sent to Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, asking that the dispute be certified to the mediation board. (Principally, the board mediates only strikes involving plants engaged on defense orders. There is no strike involved here and the company is not producing defense materials.)

A letter asking union recognition was sent to Frank E. Bair, plant superintendent, today, Niebur said, and the union will seek contract negotiations with the management on questions of wages, hours and conditions of employment.

Leaders In Senate, House Set to Meet Marshall Request

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, today opposed a compromise proposal by Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., which would, in effect, permit selectees to leave the armed forces at the end of 16 months of training.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The senate and house military affairs committees appeared ready today on the basis of testimony by Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, to approve retention of selectees, national guarsmen, and reservists for the duration.

Chairman Andrew J. May, (D., Ky.), said a majority of the house committee is "ready to do what Gen. Marshall wants"—which is

Says Wheeler Urged Soldiers to Protest

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson today charged Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., with conduct that "comes very near the line of subversive activities against the United States, if not treason."

Stimson made his attack on the anti-interventionist leader at a press conference. He exhibited post cards he said had been sent to the war department by soldiers who claimed to have received them from wheeler. He said the post cards were sent to soldiers postage free.

Stimson said that Wheeler quoted the statements of anti-interventionists and urged the soldiers to "write today to President Roosevelt at the White House that you are against our entry into the European war."

Argentina, Bolivia Moving Against Subversives

(By United Press)

BUENOS AIRES—Argentina and Bolivia moved vigorously to suppress Nazi-inspired subversive activities today while the small-scale war between Peru and Ecuador, alleged to have foreign inspiration, was renewed.

The new vigor of South American officials in combatting fifth column activities and seeking continental unity was seen in the "supreme appeal" Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu sent in the name of the Argentine government to Peru and Ecuador to end their war and submit to pan-American conciliation.

Argentine authorities were studying documents seized in a sudden raid on the alleged headquarters of Nazi propagandists and secret agents in this country. Seventy policemen, directed by Deputy Paul Damonte Taborda, chairman of a congressional committee investigating subversive activities, swooped down on the Edificio Naco Ger-

WORKER KILLED

Dies as He Touches 138,000 Volt Line Near Shelby.

Marion J. Briggs, 35, of Crooksville, Perry County, was accidentally electrocuted Wednesday afternoon while working at the Ohio Power company's Howard substation at Vernon Junction, three miles southwest of Shelby. He started to work for the company at noon yesterday.

Employed by the Richardson Wayland company, Roanoke, Va., Briggs was helping to erect floodlights at the substation when he came in contact with a line carrying 138,000 volts. The shock knocked him from the pole and he fell 30 feet to the ground. The floodlights are being erected as a national defense precaution.

Workers at the station administered artificial respiration for several minutes and treatments were continued for four hours at Shelby Memorial hospital in a vain effort to revive him.

The body was taken to Crooksville for funeral services and burial. The widow and three children survive.

Nazi Consuls Still Held at Lisbon as Italians Go Free

(By Associated Press)

LISBON — German consuls, their staffs and Nazi agents ousted from the United States passed the night aboard the U. S. naval transport West Point, which is eyed longingly by some of the 1,700 war refugees waiting here for a chance to get to the New World.

Many stood and gazed wistfully at the huge gray vessel, unmindful of the rush and bustle of the waterfront as the Italian consular group was released yesterday. The Germans were held pending arrival in Portugal of American consuls and their staffs from Germany.

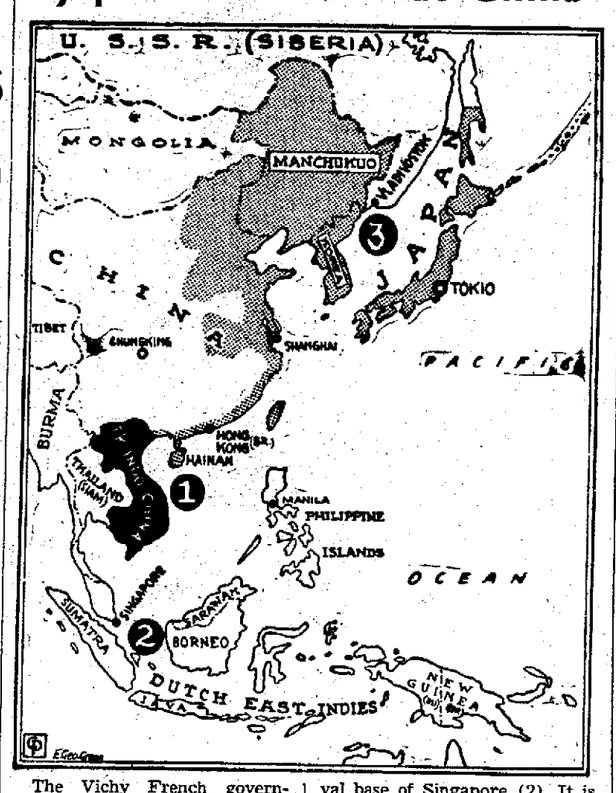
The Americans were reported by the United States embassy in Madrid to have crossed into Spain from France last night and they were expected here today. A train bearing 85 Americans from Italy arrived here last night and a plane from Rome carried a few others from the Balkans.

The 1,700 foreign refugees—Poles, Belgians, Dutch, Germans, French, Czechs, Yugoslavs and Danes—are all that are left of about 50,000 persons who rushed into this city a year ago.

United States citizens still arrive from Germany, Italy and occupied territories each week, but they find immediate transportation. But there are an estimated 2,000 Americans left in Axis-dominated countries unable to obtain necessary visas to reach Portugal.

The largest single group of refugees is Polish. About 1,000 of them are stranded in Portugal.

Japs to 'Defend' Indo-China



The Vichy French government having granted Japan military facilities for "defense" of French Indo-China (1) the Japanese are now in easy striking distance of the great British naval base of Singapore (2). It is also believed that a collapse of Russian resistance to the Germans would be the signal for a Japanese attack on the Siberian port of Vladivostak (3).

DEFEAT MUNY PLANT, 4 TO 1

Plymouth Electors Reject Plan To Build Light Plant 391 To 98.

By a margin of nearly four to one, Plymouth voters yesterday turned down a village council proposal to build a municipal light plant.

The vote was 98 for the light plant and 391 against it. Election board officials said the total vote was light despite a heated compaign in the village during the two months preceding the special referendum.

Results of the referendum were considered a victory for the Plymouth board of public affairs which split with council and backed the Ohio Power company in opposing the plan for a muncipally-owned plant.

Mayor William M. Johns, also an advocate of a muncipal plant, published a number of newspaper articles in its behalf and was one of the active campaigners for it.

Ballots used in yesterday's referendum carried the question: "Shall ordinance 45 be approved?" The ordinance provided that en-

POST GUARDS

Marion Farmers Keep 24-Hour Watch to End Sheep Killings.

MARION, O — (INS) — A fresh outbreak of sheep killings today caused Marion county farmers to post 24-hour guards over their flocks and to institute an intense search for dogs believed responsible for the attacks.

In the last few days 48 sheep on the farms of T. L. Huntsman and Branch Roberts were killed and others injured.

Big Richland Wheat Crop Causes Storage Problem

Elevators Reported Overflowing, Farmers Without Storage Because Old Wheat Crop Still Fills Bins.

With Richland county farmers pouring one of their best wheat crops in recent years into grain elevators, most of Mansfield's grain dealers said today they have no more storage space and are receiving wheat only for cash sale.

Dealers said a combination of a huge wheat crop this year and a big carryover from 1940 has overtaxed their elevators, creating a serious grain storage problem.

Scores of county farmers have stored wheat in their own bins under government AAA regulations and now are faced with the task of finding storage for the grain yet to be threshed.

Because of the huge supply of grain, the wheat price was down to 90 cents a bushel today, 11 cents below the figure at the opening of the harvest season late in June, grain dealers said.

The new AAA wheat plan, which is being protested by thousands of Ohio farmers, requires farmers to store their excess wheat, pay 49 cents a bushel penalty to market it, or turn it over to the government for relief use.

Threshing is at its peak now in the Richland county area and there are thousands of bushels of wheat to be marketed or stored, elevator men said.

The grain is above the average in quality and a number of reports of 40 bushels per acre yields have been reported, they said.

Average yield for the entire county so far is 28 to 30 bushels per acre, about 10 bushels above the average over a period of years, it was said.

Oats cutting was under way today in some sections of the county, and when the new oats crop goes on the market it is expected to create a more serious storage problem.

VISIT 'TOWN'

Clevelanders Here to Inspect Mansfield's Safety Program.

Mansfield's own Safetytown project was to be inspected by a group of Cleveland mothers and safety officials this afternoon at Prospect school playground for the purpose of adapting its principles for use in their city.

Arriving shortly before noon in a motor calvacade, the 55 members of the delegation were welcomed by Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton, Patrolman Frend C. Boals, originator of the traffic school, Louis Bromfield, novelist, and several other Mansfielders.

Inspection of the traffic kindergarten was to be made following a luncheon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel where A. F. Malo, representative of the Michigan state highway department, and several Cleveland officials were to speak.

Cleveland has already laid plans for the establishment of two projects similar to Safetytown to teach children traffic safety precautions. Malo is studying the Mansfield system to help the Michigan department set up similar programs.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Fire which shot flames 150 feet into the air early today destroyed the 2½ story brick veneer building of the Rocky River Basket company. The loss was estimated at $75,000.

Fire Chief Clarence A. Naderson said the blaze may have been caused by spontaneous combustion of materials within the building or by sparks by a passing locomotive.

U. S., Britain Poised for Big Counter Move

Economic Moves by U. S. Expected to Match British Armed Action

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The United States and Great Britain were reported poised today for swift and drastic counter-action against impending Japanese occupation of strategic air and naval bases in the south of French Indo-China.

Indications both here and in London were that the American government stood ready to impose sweeping economic restrictions on Japan, paralleling possible British military action to offset the threat against their Singapore naval base and The Netherlands East Indies.

That the occupation was imminent if not actually underway already was indicated by dispatches from Saigon, French Indo-China.

Foreign consulates there said today their representatives in Hanoi had been advised by the Indo-China government of a French-Japanese agreement granting the Japanese certain naval and military concessions in the southern part of the colony.

The Saigon sources also said the agreement had been reached July 19. Diplomatic quarters heard that a formal announcement of the agreement would be made next Monday. At that time, it was expected, the nature and extent of the concessions probably will be known officially.

Such concessions have been re-

12 Jap Transports Reported Sailing Toward Saigon; City Calm.

(By Associated Press)

SAIGON, French Indo-China—Well-informed quarters reported today that Japanese warships had appeared off Cap St. Jacques and Camrahn bay following French acceptance of Japanese demands for military facilities in south Indo-China.

The same sources reported that 12 Japanese transports were en route to Saigon from Hainan, Chinese island off the Indo-China coast which the Japanese have been using as a concentration base for months.

Camranh bay is a naval base on Indo-China's southeast coast and Cap St. Jacques dominates the mouths of the Saigon river by which ships reach this port.

French acceptance of Japan's demands for extension to southern Indo-China of the military grip she already holds on the north was reported officially.

Foreign consulates said today their representatives in Hanoi had been advised by the Indo-China government of a French-Japanese agreement granting the Japanese certain naval and military concessions in southern Indo-China.

These sources declared the agreement had been reached by representatives of the Tokyo and Vichy governments July 19, but details concerning its provisions could not be learned immediately.

While Saigon remained outwardly calm awaiting further news, Japanese authorities ordered the loading of Japanese boats halted and advised their nationals to stand by for evacuation if necessary.

LONDON—(AP)—While one authoritative British source held today that the prospective Japanese occupation of French Indo-China offered no military threat to Singapore two other authoritative quarters, commenting on naval and political aspects of the move, indicated mounting concern.

Clash Between Knudsen And Henderson Bringing Delay on Production Cut.

CONFER IN WASHINGTON

Officials of Two Mansfield Plants In Capital For Talks on Program.

Tension was relieved today on two Mansfield industrial plants facing a reduction in their production schedule by a clash between William S. Knudsen, co-director of the OPM, and Leon Henderson, director of the OPACS (Office of price administration and civilian supply.)

The clash indicated that Henderson's proposed order to curtail automobile and mechanical refrigerator production by 50 per cent would at least be delayed, and it seemed likely that President Roosevelt would be called on to decide whether Knudsen's OPM or Henderson's OPACS would have the final say on the matter.

Knudsen said Henderson's plan would throw hundreds of thousands of men out of work. Meanwhile, the OPM today authorized the automobile industry to go ahead on their tentative August and September schedules.

Officials of two Mansfield electrical plants are already conferring with Washington officials. Officials in two other plants said today that the expected curtailment of automobile production would not affect their plants.

In Washington are representatives of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company

NEW CITY BUSES

Four 27-Passenger Vehicles To Start Service Here.

Four new 27-passenger city buses, larger than any now in operation in Mansfield, will be placed in service here today and Friday, G. F. VanTilburg, superintendent of Mansfield Rapid Transit, Inc., said today.

The buses, manufactured by the Ford Motor company, will replace old equipment and will first go into operation on the South Main-Bowman line, VanTilburg said.

He said their use on the South Main-Bowman route will alleviate crowding on the Glessner Avenue-Reformatory line by permitting the shifting of 25-passenger buses to that line. Some of the old buses now in use are only 21-passenger capacity.

They will be wider than the old buses and painted yellow and tan with black trim. Seats in them were manufactured in Mansfield by the Art Rattan works.

COLLISION FATAL

FRENCH GRANT ORIENT BASES

Agree To Provide Japanese With Military Sites In Indo-China.

(By United Press)

VICHY — The Vichy government has agreed to provide Japan with military and technical facilities in Indo-China to enable it to "maintain order in the far east," Paris newspapers reported today.

There was rigid restriction here of all news on the far eastern situation, but the Paris press reported that though negotiations with Japan were still in progress, a basis of agreement had been established by which the Vichy government would concede the advantages Japan sought in recognition of Japan's "predominance in East Asia."

Adm. Jean de Coux, Vichy governor general of Indo-China, and Gen. Raishiro Sumita, chief of the Japanese military mission in Indo-China, conferred for two hours at Hanoi examining details of Japan's "strategic plan for temporary occupation of military positions," it was reported.

A spokesman here said:

"Recognition of Japan's predominance in Eastern Asia does not mean that France will similarly recognize the position of any other power concerning French Africa.

"Under the agreement in preparation, Japan renews its guarantees of the territorial integrity of Indo-China and French sovereignty of Indo-China."

Official spokesmen had insisted that an agreement had not been signed up to today on Japanese concessions in Indio-China, but there remained no doubt, on the basis of the Paris press reports and statements by spokesmen here, that agreement had been reached in principle and only details remained to be considered.

OPENS VIADUCT

City Set To Permit Traffic Over Mulberry Span.

The Mulberry street viaduct, closed for the last three weeks while the bridge was being repaired and resurfaced, will be reopened to traffic tomorrow.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton announced today that a surface coat of asphalt will be applied to the bridge floor this afternoon and that autos will resume use of it tomorrow.

Workers have been completing the task of replanking the viaduct to prevent the excessive clatter coming from the old covering. As an experiment, some of the planks were removed two months ago and were replaced by new planking and an asphalt treatment.

Finding that the new surface eliminated the noise, Crafton ordered the resumption of the work early this month. In addition to the new planks, a waterproof fabric lining was placed between the wooden flooring and the surface asphalt.

It's Farce—4 Showgirls To Get Only $2,000 Apiece

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Those four Broadway showgirls to whom 72-year-old William Guggenheim left "more than $1,000,000" in his will, were due for a bit of a jolt today with the disclosure that most of the money is tied up in an ancestral Philadelphia trust fund that cannot be touched for three generations.

And to top off that shock along came Pearce E. E. Aul, one of Guggenheim's lawyers, with the announcement that "it is hardly possible that the gross estate will amount to $20,000." With the payment of administration and funeral expenses, together with outstanding debts, Aul said it was likely that the estate "will total $8,000 at the best."

As for the Riverside drive Manhattan mansion, also willed to the four Broadwaytes, Aul pointed out that there was a $50,000 mortgage on the property. He predicted that the building, assessed at $85,000, would be lost through foreclosure and said there even might be a deficiency judgment to take a further cut out of the original estate.

The four showgirls named in the will, which made no provision for Guggenheim's wife or son, William, were Mary Alice Rice, Mildred Borst, Lilyan Andrus, and Florence Sullivan. The will stated that they were to "share and share alike."

It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JULY 24, 1941.

Columbus police have warned housewives to keep the doors locked—even when there isn't a circus in town.

There is talk of reducing next year's output of automobiles to 2,600,000, which is only about ten times as many as all the rest of the world will produce.

According to George Matthew Adams, "The power of speech is undoubtedly the most valuable of all gifts inherited by man"—even if some folks are oral spendthrifts.

National Defense Is Full-Time Job

WHEN Congressman Stephen M. Young proposes a "168-hour week," in order to safeguard America, he seems to mean that this should be regarded as a full-time job.

Multiplying 7 days by 24 hours reveals that there are just 168 hours in each week and it is as unreasonable to argue for a 168-hour work week, without sleep or leisure, as it is to believe that a war can be won—or a serious war threat averted—by a 30 to 40-hour work schedule in defense production.

When the seriousness of America's plight is more generally realized—as it is now realized by President Roosevelt and others who are associated with him in the administration of government—much less will be heard about short working hours, for the duration of the war, and more emphasis will be placed on finding ways to avert the fate of nations that have already fallen victims of the Axis powers.

When lives, homes and liberties are in danger, people are not inclined to consider limiting their hours of work, whether engaged in military or civilian tasks, and the conduct of men and women in England during air raids may well be studied as an example of what would occur in this country in the event of similar attack.

This lack of realization of the reality of danger to the United States is also largely responsible for the present differences of opinion on the proposal to extend the service of draftees beyond the one year for which they were called.

If the need for a large armed force is as urgent as President Roosevelt claims, on the basis of his knowledge of conditions, there is no question as to the necessity of keeping these trainees in service; or of increasing their numbers as rapidly as possible.

The purpose of the selective service act was to prepare men for army service. Consideration for the safety of the nation must take precedence over all else.

Prices Advance as Wages Increase

THE government's efforts to control prices, Business Week recently observed, are "meeting difficulties." Despite the work of Leon Henderson's office, commodity prices continue to rise.

There is a very sound reason for that. The reason is wages. It should be obvious to anyone that prices and wages still follow the same course. It is utterly unreasonable to expect that we can fix prices and at the same time permit wage levels to steadily rise.

During this defense boom, wages have risen faster than production. In the year ending last June, payrolls increased 42 per cent—while manufacturing output increased only 30 per cent. Wage increases have also been far greater than price increases.

The efforts of business and the government to control prices will prove completely ineffectual if this trend continues. In some lines, of which retail merchandising is perhaps the most outstanding, prices have been held down for the reason that business has taken smaller profits. That cannot go on indefinitely, in the face of the wage trend.

No Surplus Russian Wheat

ARGUING that a Nazi victory in Russia would critically reduce the supply of food for the Russian people, and perhaps bring about a severe famine, is the fact that Russia since czarist days has not been a ranking exporter of wheat.

Prior to the World war Russia sometimes led all surplus-producing countries in wheat exports. This usually was at the expense of the peasants who subsisted on poor black bread so that the nation could sell wheat to obtain foreign exchange.

After the war Russia mechanized agriculture and increased its wheat production. But little of it has been exported, partly because Russian gold production was expanded sufficiently to provide adequate foreign exchange.

It would appear therefore that whatever wheat Germany may take out of Russia will be cereal that Russia has itself been consuming, with the effect of further reducing standards of living already pitifully low.

Quite Different Views

DOROTHY THOMPSON, turning her flashlight upon Senator Wheeler, finds a curious contradiction. Mr. Wheeler has long been known as a leading American liberal. In fact, he used to be called a "radical." He has spent his life, says Miss Thompson, "fighting concentrations of power in this country."

But now, in his foreign policy, he seems "quite indifferent to the most colossal concentration of power ever seen in human history—one big holding company for all Europe, and maybe tomorrow for a large part of Asia, under a single executive, without any checks and balances whatsoever, in alliance with the dominant power of the Far East—and with a definite plan for encircling America."

Senator Wheeler apparently doesn't see what she sees.

Oil Industry Helps Farmers

STRANGE as it may seem, the oil industry is one of the farmer's best and most reliable customers. Information is given that much of the grease that lubricates America's cars and other machines contains tallow oil, which comes from sheep. About 107,000,000 pounds of tallow oil in one form or another are consumed annually by the petroleum industry. That requires 35,000,000 sheep.

This is just one item in the long list of supplies the oil industry buys each year directly from agriculture. To it add lard oil from pigs, stearine from cattle and horses, castor oil from the castor plant, neat's-foot oil made from horns and hooves, milk, fibreboard, hair felt, leather, cotton fabrics, wood products—and dozens of others.

The petroleum industry's consumption of farm products grows steadily, as production of oil and lubricants increases, and as new techniques and processes are developed. Millions of dollars thus find their way into the farmers' pockets.

THE PICNIC IS OVER

Educators To Check-Up Textbooks

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

JOHN W. STUDEBAKER, federal education commissioner, in the overhauling he's giving to America's school textbooks, is after assorted inaccuracies. The investigation the National Education association has just started is for the purpose of spotting subversive matter in particular.

The N. E. A.'s quiz may be hotter than Commissioner Studebaker's. Many of the mistakes he finds are likely to prove to be unintentional ones. The association's after deligerately disloyal literature.

When the commissioner discovers an error, he can only point it out, because public education's under the various states' local control. Presumably they'll make corrections at his suggestions, but, as an official of the central government, he can't dictate.

For that matter, the N. E. A. can't dictate, either. Nevertheless, it's the country's strongest organization of its kind, with headquarters and a large staff in Washington. Its membership consists of actual teachers. When it puts its finger upon a sample of outright disloyalty, that specimen will find it exceedingly difficult to avoid erasing itself.

At its last convention in Boston the concern named a committee of 60 to handle the job. Besides public schools' teachings, this committete will dig into 'em in private ones and in colleges. It also will do more than merely read books. It will go on the trail of individual teachers and groups of 'em, who pump disloyalty into their pupils—such stuff as Communism, Nazism, Fascism, Falangism, Anarchism, et cetera.

Well, all right. It's highly commendable in the N. E. A. to undertake the task of stopping the education of kids into the idea that the ends sought by these miscellaneous philosophies are desirable.

Why Not Explain?

But it doesn't follow that the kids shouldn't be told what said philosophies ARE. The more fully THAT's explained to 'em, the better they'll understand how and what to steer clear of. Keeping 'em in ignorance of what's bad doesn't seem to me the right way to go about it.

I once had a little daughter, now grown up, who attended a school in which one of her instructors was a very pronounced Socialist. It was before Nazism amounted to much, but that teacher foreshadowed it accurately.

She fed some detail of her politico-economic doctrine into my little girl's system daily. Every time she did so, as soon as she got home, the small damsel would relate to me what she's been told and ask me my opinion of it.

Of course, being 100 per cent democrat, I'd make her see why that notion was pure hooey. Why, that teacher gave me more valuable hints as to the things my child's mind ought to be fortified against than a whole faculty of democratic educators could have done.

Let's Have Ventilation.

I'm not intimating that the National Educational association's committee of 60 will do anything but fight outright misrepresentation and genuine advocacy of undemocratic systems of one sort or another.

But surely it shouldn't adopt a hush-hush policy.

When some kind of a noxious germ's in the atmosphere, ignoring it isn't the best method af staving off the insect. It needs to be understood to be guarded against.

Not exactly that I'm in favor of encouragaing its carriers, like that teacher I've been telling about. And yet the bug needs to be studied in laboratories or something, even if only for the purpose of recognition, in order to exterminate it.

Listen World!

I'm Glad I'm Living!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WON'T you," she wails, "write a word of comfort for the thousands who regret being born in this dreadful age and who long for the sweet, peaceful lives our parents knew?"

No, m'am, I won't. Nary a tear will such Softies and Slowpokes wring out of me. For I don't consider this a most exciting and inspiring age the world has ever seen and I'm profoundly grateful for the privilege of being part of it.

Yes, I know it's a tough period. We're witnessing incredible horrors and facing some mighty uncomfortable tests, and we'll all bear the scars. Neither wealth nor wit, power nor fame can exempt any of us. And I'm glad they can't! For we've had this upheaval coming to us a long time and it's the one, big cure for what ails us.

Trouble is, most of us don't realize what the upheaval really means. We're so absorbed in battle fronts that we overlook the infinitely greater show that's taking place. We aren't just facing war. We're facing the birth of a new world, the creation of an entirely new program for the whole human race. And it's time we did, for our previous record was anything but a credit or a comfort.

We read, sickened and stunned, of war news. But there's nothing new about such cruelty; it's simply being dragged into the spotlight at last. We're seeing the truth behind the vicious glamour, as we should have seen it 50,000 years ago.

And Hitler isn't the only one who is putting us wise. Here, on the home front, we work ourselves into a lather over the plight of the Okies, the share croppers, the underpaid miners, sweatshop workers, child laborers. But those conditions aren't unique. They existed in Grandma's day as they do in ours. We're merely beginning to realize that we'll have to do something about them—or else!

THAT'S WHY I'M GLAD I'M ALIVE TODAY! I'M GLAD BECAUSE LIFE IS CALLING OUR BLUFF . . . JARRING US OUT OF OUR COMPLACENCY, COWARDICE, AND VICIOUS SENTIMENTALITY.

Hitler's hypocrisy is only an enlarged version of our own. He justifies hi. callous cruelty by saying it serves "Germany's destiny." We have long justified ours by claiming human misery was the "will of God." Liars, all of us! Now we view the dreadful fruit of our lies. We can no longer fool anyone. We must put up or shut up!

AND WE'RE PUTTING UP . . . WE'RE FACING THE FACT THAT WE ARE OUR BROTHER'S KEEPER AND PRETTY PRATTLE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR DIRECT CURB SERVICE.

We're realizing that a defense program isn't merely a matter of guns . . . we must arm ourselves against ignorance, indifference, disease and despair as thoroughly as against submarine or airplane attacks . . . we must protect our aged and infants, the workers and the incapacitated as well as our military objectives.

A tough age, yes. Uncomfortable, risky, expensive. But also the most glorious and exciting age the race has ever known. Heartbreaking scenes, but heart-stirring ones, too. For never have human beings dared reach so far toward the stars, dared dig so deep in the mire.

I'M GLAD TO BE LIVING IN THIS DAY! THANK GOD FOR ITS CONSTANT CHANGE AND CHALLENGE, AND GIVE ME THE COURAGE TO KEEP IN LINE!

Riotous Debate Reveals Opposing Views On Bill to Draft Property

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Those present are keeping mum about it, but administration leaders almost had to call out the riot squad to get the senate military affairs committee to report out the war department's "draft property" bill. The compromise bill was approved only after what one senator privately described as the "wildest committee meeting I have ever attended." He wasn't exaggerating.

For a time, while debate was at its hottest, the closed-door session seemed like a waterfront brawl. Members threw senatorial dignity to the winds and all but slugged it out over the army's demand for authority to draft property for defense.

Two Democrats, Sheridan Downey, California's "yes and noer" on foreign affairs, and "Happy" Chandler, militant anti-isolationist Kentuckian, almost did throw punches.

It started when Wayne Coy, head of the Office of Emergency Management, came from the White House with a draft of the property-seizure bill, which, it developed, was a virtual facsimile of the war department's drastic original bill. There was a brief pause after the bill was read—and then the battle began.

All the Republican members and three Democrats, including Downey, jumped from their chairs hotly charging that the war department was trying to put over a fast one, and demanding that Coy take the bill back to the White House. Ordinarily reserved, Senator Warren Austin of Vermont, a strong supporter of the president's foreign policies, wrothily declared that he would not "go along" on this legislation, "giving the president blanket powers to seize property.'"

"Fighting Words."

SENATOR STYLES BRIDGES of New Hampshire, another GOP anti-isolationist, exclaimed: "If the president wants national unity and support from Republicans, he'd better give this bill back to the war department."

Downey and several others also joined in the attack. Meanwhile Chandler, in charge of the legislation, kept shouting at the top of his voice:

"Property is no more sacred than human life. If the president has power to draft men for the army, he also should have the right to draft property."

The big blowoff came when Downey yelled, "This bill means revolution."

"I'm surprised," shot back the truculent Chandler, "that a responsible member of the senate would make such a wholly irresponsible and absurd statement. I don't think a man of your position should be loosely predicting revolution. Such remarks stir up unrest, and there's already too much agitation in the country."

"I'll say what I please," screamed Downey, blazing with fury, "and I'll have you know that I have the interests of this country at heart as much as you."

"You haven't when you make statements like that," retorted Chandler.

For a moment the stocky, square-jawed Kentuckian and the mop-haired Californian glared fighting mad at each other. Then Downey sat down and the committee voted out the compromise bill favored by Chandler.

Note—Senator Downey is the senate's chief advocate of the Townsend old age pension plan and was elected with considerable Ham-and-Egg support, a movement charged with the indirect conscription of property.

Booming Lewis.

EVIDENCE continues to pile up that John L. Lewis has his cap set for a comeback as CIO president.

Latest incident to set CIO insiders buzzing occurred at the state convention of the Indiana CIO at Muncie. Ora Gasaway, former president of District 8, (Indiana) United Mine Workers, and now a Lewis henchman at the UMW headquarters in Washington, was making a speech. Suddenly he startled the gathering with this crack:

"The time has come for us to have a native-born American for president of the CIO"

For a moment you could have heard a pin drop. Then almost to a man the 700 delegates broke into a roar of angry boos. With a hasty gulp, Gasaway changed the subject.

Note: CIO President Phil Murray was born in Scotland.

Bases In South America.

IT HASN'T leaked out yet, but through diplomatic negotiations with Latin America, the way is being paved for our possible entrance into the war as a belligerent. In an earlier day we were thinking only of neutrality, and together with the other American nations we laid down rules to prevent the belligerents from using the facilities of our ports more than a certain time.

But now, if the U. S. becomes a belligerent, we would be barred, by our own Inter-American regulations, from using the ports or landing fields of Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, including the very ones which we are building at great cost, as announced by General Marshall last week. These fields, of course, remain the integral territory of the country where they lie, and we have no claim to them.

Uruguay has already taken the initiative to solve this odd situation by yielding rights to the U. S. As a matter of fact, the United States foresaw the difficulty and discussed the matter with the Uruguayan government. In reality Uruguay was selected for this first move because of her traditional liberal position in such matters.

It is hoped that the Uruguayan example will be followed by other countries. If it is not followed, the United States will be shut out of the southern continent.

Merry-Go-Round.

PRICE Defense Administrator Leon Henderson is planning to go to England for a first-hand study of wartime price regulation—after congress has enacted his control bill...Incidentally, certain administration chieftains could learn a good lesson from Henderson on how to broach legislation. Instead of peremptorily throwing a bill at congress, he has astutely conferred with senate and house leaders on what should go into his measure...Here is a graphic example of how overcrowded Washington is today. When the ornate justice department building was completed in 1932, it housed a total of 900 officials and employes, who rattled around in the huge structure like dice in a shaker. Practically everybody, from messengers up, had a private office. Today, the Washington personnel of the department is over 7,500 and office space is so scarce that many of the corridors are being used for offices.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Only 13 plays left on Broadway, and 10 of these are musicals or comedies. . . . The oldest is "Hellzapoppin," in its 4th year, and the next oldest is "Life With Father." . . .

One of these 13 is "It Happens On Ice" and in it is the interesting person of Hedi Stenuf, billed by her press agent as "The Nordic Beauty." . . . She is all of that. . . . She is both Nordic, and beautiful. . . . Miss Stenuf is one of the remarkable women's skaters in this or any country. . . .

Of the three plays that touch a serious theme, "Watch On the Rhine" is the only drama that concerns itself with the Nazis. . . . Paul Lukas continues to be the surprise hit. . . . Surprise, that is, to a few film agents who permitted him to get away from films. . . . He can write his own figure now. . . . In his dressing room it is a commonplace to count half a dozen pals from the coast. . . . They came in on every train, and Paul's dressing room has become their favorite hangout.

THE most delightful evening in the theater continues to be "Claudia," that strange, fresh, infectious comedy of young marriage. . . . "Pal Joey" is bitter and cynical and fascinating. . . . I am unable to understand the continued, full-scale success that follows "Panama Hattie." . . . It is fun, sure—bawdy, gaudy, and naughty, but you would think those things would wear out. . . . Perhaps success is due to Ethel Merman, whom many consider really a great entertainer.

A play that never has received the noise it merits has been "Separate Rooms," but here it continues into its second year, and it gives this town another example of the value of word of mouth advertising. . . . It came in on a shoestring. . . . It received faint praise. . . . But it was funny. . . . That is, it was what people want when they go to the theater. . . . It gave them the chance to sit back and relax and forget their troubles. . . . And it gave them a laugh. . . . This comedy has Lyle Talbot, Alan Dinehart and Glenda Farrell. . . . After the first night's reviews they thought they would be lucky to get more than the usual two weeks. . . . But here it is into the second year, and it proves again that, on Broadway at least, you never know.

"ARSENIC AND OLD LACE" is the wild screwball play of season. . . . "My Sister Eileen" is good, hearty fun in a Greenwich basement. . . . I am unable to define "The Beautiful People. . . . I saw it. . . . I read all the reviews. . . . I heard William Saroyan, who wrote it, tell all about it. . . . But I cannot explain nor account for it. . . . You will know all about "The Corn Is Green," with Miss Ethel Barrymore, which has been running a long time, not in bursts of popularity, but with steady box-office trade.

These are the only shows on Broadway as the summer goes into its hottest month. The newcomers won't begin to appear much before October.

A Farmer's Diary

Martins Disapproved

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

FRIENDS of ours in the village had their buildings painted, and the painter thought it would be in keeping to paint the pole that supported the martin house, in their backyard.

Two mother martins with young families in the bird house, were much disturbed when they saw him set up his ladder. They swooped upon his bedabbled cap so menacingly that the painter pulled it closer over his eyes and face. With each stroke of his brush their tempers rose, and they flew about him shrieking angry threats—worse scolding than that of famed Xantippe or Petrucio's Kate.

The painter had a job to do. He kept right on. The two birds went into a twittering conference for a few seconds, then flew away, one north, one south. In less than 20 minutes they returned, and brought with them all the swallows in the village. At least 60 other martins perched upon nearby trees or stood in long rows on the wires but not a single bird went near the bird house. Some groups conversed noisily then flew as though to drive the painter off; some others looked on reflectively, as if in speculation as to the consequences of this change to the pole; some sat back and merely gossiped and hoped for the best.

They watched until the job was finished and the painter moved his ladder. The two mother martins were still suspicious of this unholy desecration, and even when the other martins went on home, they hesitated to return to the nesting place. Finally one flew to the comb of the birdhouse roof and the other dared to land on the porch of it—unpainted—and peer over the very edge at the gleaming pole with calculating disapproval. A little later they were going in and out about their usual domestic duties, and watchers at neighboring windows turned away, and smiled.

Like the swifts and swallows, martins prefer to make their homes near human dwellings. Perhaps this contact with the human race has influenced their habits of reaction. Certainly what the owner of the bird house said was true. . . . "It was funny to see them go away and round up a posse. Actually they seemed almost human."

Was Held as Spy

Happy to be back in the United States is Miss Josephine Winter, 25, of St. Louis, Mo. An American ambulance driver earlier in the war, Miss Winter fled France when that nation's resistance collapsed. She was arrested as a spy suspect in Spain and held for 11 days in jail at Figueras. Spanish authorities, says Miss Winter, regard all foreign blond young women as possible spies.

WAR GAS PERIL SCALED DOWN

Chemical Warfare Chief Says Terror of Gas Greatly Exaggerated.

FORT BLISS, Tex.—(U.P.)—The terror of poison gas has been greatly exaggerated in the public mind according to Major C. S. Shadle, head of the chemical warfare service detachment at Fort Bliss.

Major Shadle, former private who fought in seven major engagements in which the A. E. F. participated during the World war, has been gassed and wounded. He recovered from the gas without ill effect.

"Troops need not fear any of the known gases so long as they use the protection afforded them," he said.

"Our army has the finest protection in the world against gas—but there's not much you can do if you are hit by a projectile."

The gas masks provided for troops are adequate protection against war gases, he said. The masks contain charcoal and lime, which neutralize the gases.

Major Shadle's detachment conducts continuous schools at which soldiers are schooled in gas protection measures.

The chemical warfare detachment instructs soldiers in the wearing of gas masks, and how to put masks on horses. Also, it gives instruction in decontamination—the neutralization of gassed areas.

A good sense of smell is an asset to a soldier in war, and all troops are taught to recognize the different gases by their odors. The minute they get a whiff of gas they are taught to don their gas masks.

Major Shadle said that chlorine, first used by the Germans in 1915, has a lime odor. Phosgene, another World war gas smells like new-mown hay. Mustard gas, a burning, blistering gas, smells like garlic. Lewisite, an unused gas developed by the army, has an odor like geraniums.

JAPAN MOVES WARSHIPS INTO CRISIS AREA

Saigon Reports Troops Also on Way To Indo-China After Agreement.

official spokesmen evoked the widest interest among United States and dominion diplomatic circles since it has been repeatedly stated here that the British government is in close consultation with the United States and Australia.

In these diplomatic circles it was widely hinted that some basis for action necessitated by the Japanese move had been reached. The Times of London spoke this morning of economic measures against Japan possibly agreed upon by the consulting governments.

The authoritative quarter which startled correspondents by saying that Japanese occupation of Indo-China was no threat to the Singapore base revealed on the other hand that the "real threat" was to the Burma road, lifeline of the Chungking Chinese government.

Call Occupation Threat to Singapore

SHANGHAI —(AP)— Foreign military observers said today Japanese occupation of southern Indo-China bases would be a definite threat to Singapore, the Philippines and the Netherlands East Indies.

After reports from Saigon said the French government at Vichy and Japan had reached an agreement on certain naval and military concessions in the French colony, military observers said they expected the Japanese to fortify strategic Camranh Bay.

This would be used, they said, as an advance naval base to drive further south against the British and Dutch possessions.

Camranh Bay, on the southeastern coast of Indo-China, is a deep water fleet anchorage about 800 miles from the British naval base at Singapore. Saigon, 225 miles further south in Indo-China, also has port facilities and a well-equipped airport.

Military men predicted the Japanese next would bring pressure upon Thailand for bases. Their occupation would bring the Japanese forces elbow to elbow with he Australians guarding Malaya and Burma.

Further Japanese moves against British interests along the China coast were also envisioned as Japanese accused the British of trying to thwart Tokyo's East Asiatic program.

CAPITAL ROW EASES TENSION

Clash Between Knudsen and Henderson Bringing Delay on Production Cut.

and the Dominion Electric company. Both manufacture electrical household equipment which Henderson said will be sharply curtailed, the production of refrigerators as much as 50 per cent.

Knudsen today took exception to Henderson's statement saying: "You can't just chop off production 50 per cent," he said at a press conference, "or you'll have a lot of people walking the streets."

Mr. Roosevelt is expected to establish clearly the extent to which defense production will be given priority over civilian needs. Legal authorities said priorities powers given him by the recently-enacted Vinson bill are sufficient for enforcement of any curtailment program he may adopt.

Henderson's announcement that automobile production may be reduced 20 to 50 per cent, brought statements from the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company and Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company that these plants would not be affected.

James M. Hill, president of Empire, said that if not used in automobiles or kitchenware, ingots and sheets produced at the plant would probably be purchased by companies swamped with defense orders.

"Modern wars need steel," Hill said, "and we do not foresee any condition which will force Empire to curtail production."

Last month the company set a new all-time production record, producing 30,000 tons of steel.

At the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, it was stated that since the company's big market is in tires for replacement on autos rather than for new automobiles, the proposed curb in auto production would not cripple its operations.

Last week's announcement by Henderson said that under the proposed program, companies hit by the production curtailment would receive orders for war materials.

The curtailment program was proposed when federal officials observed that the nation's supply of materials going into automobile and household appliance products was dangerously low. The metals should be saved for defense industries, Henderson said.

FOURTH FROM OHIO

RANDOLPH FIELD, Texas —(AP)— More than one-fourth of the newest class of flying cadets enrolled for basic U. S. army flight training here are from Ohio, the school's public relations office reported today.

Aluminum Pile Getting Larger

Higher and higher grows Mansfield's pile of old aluminum contributions for national defense as collections from three of the city's six wards are piled into the aluminum dump near the western entrance to Central park. The collection of old pots and pans is nearing the top of the fence with three wards and several rural communities yet to report. Residents taking advantage of the invitation to "Hit Hitler" have already closed one of his eyes with their barrage of aluminum. The picture above gives evidence of Mansfield's support to the aluminum salvaging drive.

BOMB HITS HOME OF U. S. ENVOY

Americans Unhurt as Germans Stage Third Heavy Air Raid on Moscow.

"at random" on the outskirts of the city.

A number of the raiders were reported shot down by ground batteries and night fighters.

Particularly heavy fighting was reported to have raged all day yesterday in the Smolensk and Polotsk-Nevel sectors west of Moscow, in the Zhitomir area west of the Ukrainian capital of Kiev, and along the Bessarabian border in the south.

The communique said that at one point on the Bessarabian front Russian forces routed an enemy motorized detachment, capturing 400 armored cars, 300 motorcycles, 32 tanks, 25 guns and eight mine throwers.

The early morning bulletin placed great emphasis on the effectiveness of Russian guerrilla forces said to be operating far behind the German lines.

"Red army detachments and guerrilla detachments operating behind the Fascist line are demoralizing the enemy's rear increasingly often and provoking panic in his ranks," the communique said.

Double Battle Rages On Road to Moscow

BERLIN—(AP)—While German armored units battled fiercely today to gain ground on the road to Moscow, Nazi infantry almost 100 miles to the rear was reported engaged in an equally fierce struggle with masses of Russian troops split by the panzer drive.

Dispatches telling of this phase of the struggle were coupled with reports of adverse weather delaying the drive on the Ukrainian capital of Kiev, further south.

Rainstorms of cloudburst dimensions were said to have turned the highways west of Kiev into a gluey sea of mud.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung said the advance of panzer units, knifing through the Russian lines toward the Soviet capital, had created a fighting front in this sector more than 95 miles deep.

German infantry, following in the path of the armored forces, was said to be confronted with the task of mopping up centers of Russian resistance which the panzers failed to destroy.

The paper's military commentator declared the Russian position was "hopeless."

While bitter fighting raged all along front, the German air force was reported dealing devastating blows to Russian communications far behind the lines.

Raids on Moscow were said to have destroyed depots and railways needed for rushing men and supplies to the Russian forces trying to stem the German advance on the capital. Industries in Moscow also were reported hard hit.

At the southern end of the battlefront, the Russian Black Sea Fort of Odessa was said to be taking a similar pounding. Air observers were said to have determined that 50 direct bomb hits on docks were scored by German fliers in an air raid on the city Tuesday night.

Nazis Admit RAF In Full-Scale Blitz

BERLIN —(DNB)— The German government today acknowledged that the Royal Air Force had launched a full-scale aerial "blitz" war against the Reich but insisted the onslaught was a complete failure.

Claiming that 54 British planes had been shot down in air battles over the English channel yesterday as against a loss of only three German planes, officials released a report from a German airman-correspondent which said:

"The British came over in twelve waves of major formations from dawn to dusk.

"They flew at great altitudes, for which reason not a single one of their bombs scored a hit.

"Now our long-standing belief is confirmed that the British air offensive merely means that the Royal Air Force is bleeding itself to death in an attack that can achieve no results."

U. S., BRITAIN READY TO ACT

Economic Measures Expected To Parallel British Armed Action.

garded as possibly foreshadowing Japanese Military expansion southward toward Singapore and the East Indies, with their rich resources of rubber, tin and oil.

The Chinese military intelligence officer at Chungking, China, told foreign correspondents that 30 Japanese troop transports convoyed by three warships were observed sailing southward past Hongkong, on July 18, in the direction of Indo-China. In addition, he declared seven heavy Japanese warships, three aircraft carriers and 55 destroyers were signted moving southward from Japanese waters Tuesday.

At Shanghai early today foreigners who had booked passage for Japan on the Kobe Maru were halted at gangplank and told that travel had been stopped for an indefinite period. However, 500 Japanese were permitted to go aboard. A similar ban also was invoked at Dairen—apparently to prevent foreigners from seeing Japanese ship movements.

London, meanwhile, disclosed far-flung military preparations at Singapore and other British Pacific outposts, readying them for any eventuality with reinforcements of Royal Air Force units.

While gravely concerned state department officials in Washington watched the situation without public comment they were known to have planned for several months economic measures for use when and if Japan went against repeated United States protests and warnings to further upset the status quo in the Pacific.

Among these measures, one or more of which might be applied, were freezing of Japanese assets in this country just as the assets of other Axis powers have been tied up, embracing shipments of oil and other vital materials to Japan and expediting increased military aid to China.

Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, received a report on the Japanese view of the situation yesterday from the ambassador, Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura. Welles would not comment and Nomura would say only that he hoped "the feeling between our two countries will become better and better."

LONGER DRAFT PLAN RECEIVES NEW APPROVAL

Senate and House Committee Heads Say Marshall Likely To Get What He Wants.

removal of the one year's limitation upon service of the troops. The committee will conclude its hearings tomorrow.

The senate committee will hear final witnesses today and meet tomorrow for final consideration of the proposal. Chairman Robert R. Reynolds, (D., N. C.) predicted that the committee would vote its approval "in short order."

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, (D., Ky.), said he would schedule debate on the proposal Monday, if the committee keeps to its schedule.

Both committees have heard witnesses on a proposal that congress declare a national emergency to effect retention of the troops. Under the selective service and other acts under which the troops were called, such a declaration would empower the president to extend their service indefinitely in the interest of national defense.

Marshall testified yesterday at a public hearing of the house committee and then talked to its members in secret. May said after hearing the army chief that the international situation is "more serious than the general public understands and is rapidly getting more so."

Marshall opposed various congressional proposals that selectees be given a bonus to volunteer for service after the first year of training.

Marshall, in addition to pleading for retention of the present army, described efforts to have selectees petition congress against extension of their service as "sabotage of the most dangerous character."

"We must treat these men as soldiers," he said. "We cannot build an army if it is to be used as a political club."

Nazi-Inspired Strife In S. America Seen

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Reports of potential German-inspired trouble in South America appeared today to be disturbing insiders here as much as apprehension regarding Japanese aggression in the Far East or the difficulties of the Soviet Union.

Testimony of Grenville Clark, New York, executive chairman of the national emergency committee of the Military Training Camps Association of America, before the house military affairs committee cited Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay as possible trouble spots.

When Clark was called to the stand in open session he said that most of what had been disclosed in secret session had been known to any close student of international affairs.

"Do you mean that you knew everything that has been told the committee today?" he was asked.

"About 90 per cent," Clark replied. "Everybody knew that something was brewing in South America. The Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay situations were well known."

DEFEAT MUNY PLANT, 4 TO 1

Plymouth Electors Reject Plan To Build Light Plant 391 To 98.

gineers should be employed by the village to draw up plans for the light and power plant. For the preliminary work they were to receive $275. Had the plant been built, the engineers then would have received an additional $350 and seven percent of the total cost of the plant, minus the $625 already paid them.

Opponents of the municipal plant obtained an injunction against the employing of engineers, forcing village officials to seek a referendum on the proposal.

Plymouth had its own light plant a number of years ago, but it was abandoned and the village in recent years has purchased its power from the Ohio Power company.

Yesterday's results, tabulated by both the Richland and Huron county election board's, showed a 215-to-50 vote against the light plant proposal in that part of Plymouth in Richland county and 176-to-48 against it in the northern section of the village which is in Huron county.

The votes were tabulated and reported to the election board in Mansfield before 8:30 p. m.

PUT CURB ON NAZI ACTIVITY

Argentina and Bolivia Move To Halt Efforts of German Fifth Columnists.

manico, in which are located the German embassy, the German consulate-general, and the offices of various German organizations, yesterday afternoon.

They closed off the third and fourth floors, alleged to be the headquarters of the German National Socialist (Nazi) party in Argentina, though the party has been long prohibited here.

The raiders, it was said in reliable quarters, broke up a conference among Enrique Korn, who is alleged to be the Nazi leader in Argentina, Enrique Wolberg, who also is an Argentine-German, and Heinz Froeling, who was detained in an anti-Nazi raid in February. No one was arrested but books, documents, and files were seized for examination.

It was understood that the raid followed official advices from Bolivia where a Nazi putsch was suppressed last week-end. Judge Ramon Vazuqe accompanied the raiders to overcome the ministry of interior's prohibition against raids without court warrant. Vazuqe issued the warrant on the scene, thus preventing the Germans being tipped off in advance.

Bolivia was moving with equal vigor against subversive elements. Early today, the government in La Paz announced that Radio America, a powerful station there, had been closed down for two weeks "for broadcasting intensively Nazi propaganda." La Paz Police Chief Gabriel Anze revealed that Gustavo Salinas Aramayo, Bolivia correspondent of Transocean Press, a Nazi news-propaganda agency, had been arrested in connection with the putsch which failed.

It was revealed that the putsch, for which German Minister Ernst Wendler, was expelled from the country, intended to establish Major Elias Belmonte, military attache of the Bolivian legation in Berlin and a Nazi sympathizer, as dictator.

Several army officers, a member of congress, and four other persons were in custody. The state of siege continued but the country remained calm. It was understood that charges might be brought against Major Belmonte in a military court.

SHOCK VICTIMS MAY BE AIDED

New Aid For Drowning and Poison Gas Victims Is Discovered.

AUSTIN, Tex.—(U.P.)—If Samuel A. Corson's experiments turn out as he expects, the United States will have a new valuable "oxygen solution" for treating victims of asphyxia, poison gas and surgical shock.

Corson, a young scientist who has been conducting experiments in physiology and biophysics at the University of Texas since last September, cautions against too much speculation on the value of his work. However, he admits that it might prove a new aid in drowning as well as poison gas victims, to patients suffering from surgical shock or soldiers suffering from traumatic shock resulting from severe wounds. Theoretically, his treatment may be used in high altitude flights.

Experiments thus far have been performed only on rats.

Time is the most pressing element in all cases of anoxemia, or lack of oxygen in the blood, Corson said. Respiration being controlled by the nervous system, anoxemia tends to initiate a vicious circle. The respiratory center, paralyzed by lack of oxygen, fails to stimulate the respiratory muscles. This leads to more severe anoxemia and finally to death.

By supplying the blood with oxygen quickly and independently of the respiratory muscles, Corson's method attempts to break the circle, tiding the patient over the critical period until the lungs can resume their normal function.

Corson conducted respiration studies on shellfish at the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service laboratories at Woods Hole, Mass., before going to the University of Texas. He has taught at New York University and was a member of the research staff there.

Jersey Used for Many Occasions This Summer

(INS Fashion Editor)
By JANE COCHRAN

NEW YORK—Dressing for dinner these summer evenings is a matter of wearing cool becoming frocks that look well in the twilight. Street-length gowns in soft, flattering shades, or in dramatic black, go to dinner at the sidewalk cafes, the country club, or motoring out to country inns.

Since you're dressing both for the last hours of daylight and for a session under electric lights, color is of paramount importance. Soft gray, rose, green and blues look well, while black and white are striking by contrast. Large brimmed hats contribute their share to the air of allure you'll find as important as a satisfying menu in a summer dinner date.

Black dresses are pointed up with huge brimmed hats, tiny feather or pique hats of white, lace trimming and long suede gloves, and can be dramatic without a single touch of color.

White dresses, always flattering, are impractical for wear in the city, but they're at their best in the country club.

Rayon Jersey.

Rayon jersey, shown this year in beautiful colors, is ideal for both town and country—it refuses to muss no matter how far you drive to your dinner or how long you linger over your after-dinner coffee. If you're driving, you'll wear these dresses with matching or contrasting turbans of jersey to keep your hair in place.

If you like the sleekness of satin, you're right in style. Satin dresses in black, slim silhouetted or softened by victorian drapery, are approved by fashion setters.

The dressier cottons also make their appearance at dinner—soft, feminine voiles and lawns are both cool and pretty.

ENTERTAIN CHILDREN.

Members of the Jolly Lot club held a basket picnic Wednesday noon at Liberty park. Members and their children were in attendance. Two new members, Mrs. Lottie Kreds and Mrs. Esther Brumfield, were welcomed to the club. Games and contests were played during the afternoon. The next meeting will be held August 27 at Middle park.

Friends Fete Bride-Elect at Nuptial Party

Miss Helen Baughman Honored With Shower at Bortschellers.

Miss Helen Baughman, bride-elect of W. Emmet McIntyre, was feted with a bathroom shower Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. William Bortscheller, Gerke avenue. During the evening the 12 guests in attendance played contests and games. Prizes, which were won by Mrs. Jon D. Smith and Mrs. D. O. Spayde, were presented to the honoree.

Luncheon was served at the close of the evening at a long table decorated with blue and peach appointments. An arrangement of garden flowers and ferns centered the table. The honoree was presented with a shower of gifts from the guests and a gift of linen from the hostess.

Miss Frances Armstrong will entertain in honor of Miss Baughman with a formal dinner party Friday evening in Galion. Miss Baughman and Mr. McIntyde will be married in an open church service Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at St. Matthew's Lutheran church by Rev. Charles Sheriff.

Seventy-one members and their guests attended the party. A three-course luncheon was served at 1 p. m. at small tables decorated with pastel appointments and garden flowers.

The executive committee of the association was in charge of arrangements. The committee is composed of Mrs. Charles Fox, Mrs. Irving Cutting, Mrs. Roger Steinbrey, Mrs. E. A. Merkle, Mrs. Ethel Channell, Mrs. H. H. Sanford, Mrs. W. B. Hallum, Mrs. George Moore and Mrs. Fred Holibaugh.

FETE BRIDE.

Mrs. Peter Kaler, nee Frances Siwek, was honored at a party given recently at the home of Miss Evelyn Zeller, Olivesburg road. The guests surprised Mrs. Kaler with a shower of kitchen gifts. Games were the diversions of the evening with prizes being won by Miss Florence Bush, Miss Geraldine Bush and Miss Irene Novacic, who presented them to the honored guest. At a late hour refreshments were served at one long table decorated with appointments in pink and white. A miniature bridal couple centered the board. Music was also a diversion of the evening.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, July 25.

Under the predominant planetary impetus all affairs should move under high tempo, with new projects and plans particularly under pressure. Under such stimuli there should be no limit to achievement in a distinctly constructive and practical manner as the forces, energies, and spirit of initiative are unusually aggressive and well directed. The results are under very expansive auguries, promising wide scope and great productive support from capital and influential sources. The danger is from the mind and energies running away with emotional impulse and there may be trivial alarms calling for restraints.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a very progressive and constructive year, with all things stimulated to high pitch of accomplishment. New matters and all major projects should flourish under aggressive and purposeful energies and enterprise, of great scope and power. In this support and capital may be counted upon from those in financial standing or other influental support. However, the mentality is prone to over stimulation zeal, and should be restrained or coolly directed. Personal anxiety may also call for calmness and modereation.

A child born on this day should have great enterprise and constructive ability, attracting the solid support of capital and influence. Some measure of restraint might be advantageously put upon a high tensional mentality.

CROSS STITCH SAMPLER: PATTERN 2925

How appropriate is this gay sampler for every home! And it's quickly embroidered, too! Pattern 2925 contains a transfer pattern of a sampler 12x14 inches; a color chart and key; material required; illustrations of stitches.

Send ten cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

By MARIAN MARTIN

Lives there a woman who can resist the appeal of pretty underthings? Pattern 9766 by Marian Martin is an attractive slip style that's unusually easy to stich up. Perforations allow for gay banding all around the top, with straps of the banding too, and a wide ruffle at the hem. The top is gracefully shaped, with the bodice sections cut softly for perfect ease. The high "upped" front waist-seam and center panel create smooth, flawlessly fitting lines, while in back there is neat waist darting. An optional front shadow-proof skirt panel gives fine sunlight protection.

Pattern 9766 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 2 yards 39 inch fabric, 2½ yards of embroidery for ruffle and 2⅛ yards for banding.

Send fifteen cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, named, address, and style number.

Send your order to The Mansfield News-Journal, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GABRISON

"Noel will do very well, wherever he decides to roost," Noel's wife said airily, and I realized that her apparent contrition for her flirtation with Stephen Redfield had not extended to forgiveness of her husband for his outburst of temper.

"We hadn't planned to sleep in our apartment tonight, anyway," she went on. "It's all party, as you probably observed; furniture moved out 'n' everything. But we have comfortable rooms on the same floor, and most probably Noel has gone to them.

"As for me, I'm glad to be here, for I don't fancy the air would be very salubrious if Noel and I should park in the same apartment tonight. In fact, they might have to call the cops."

"Are you sure Noel went to the apartment?" I said.

Alarmed About Noel.

"What do you mean by that?" she asked, but I was sure she knew the answer to her own question.

"I mean this, Mary," I said gravely. 'Noel gave me his word in the hall that he wouldn't start anything, as he expressed it, but he added the qualifying word 'yet.' He also said that it could wait until another time. Do you suppose—"

"Oh! oh!" Mary's hands went above her head in a gesture of agonized fear. "Are you afraid he's hunting Steve? Oh, he couldn't do that! And yet he was terribly angry. What shall we do?"

"Pull yourself together, first," I told her sharply, "and think coherently. What is the number of the apartment Noel is taking for the night?"

She told me, adding anxiously: "You don't want me to call him, do you?"

"Certainly not," I told her. Then, turning to the telephone, I gave the operator the number she had given me.

Noel Not In His Room.

It was a minute that seemed an hour before I received the report, and transmitted it to Mary, hovering anxiously over me.

"That room doesn't answer," I said.

"Try his father's apartment," she said feverishly, giving me the number. "Maybe they asked him over for a final nightcap."

Philip Veritzen himself answered the telephone, and I asked quickly, "Is Noel there?"

"No, he isn't," he answered. "We asked him over here, but he said he was tired and was going directly to bed. He has another apartment, you know. Have you tried that?"

"Yes, and he is not there," I said. "At least, he is not answering his telephone."

"That's queer," he said. "Wait a second!"

Veritzen to Hunt Noel.

"The bar is still open," he said, "although there are only a few minutes left before closing time. Suppose I go down there and see if he is there, and tell him you'd like to speak to him."

"That will be splendid," I assure him. "If my telephone is busy when you call me, please wait. I must make a call, but it will not take long."

I hung up the receiver, and Mary grasped my arm frantically.

"He isn't there, either?" she fairly babbled, then I repeated Philip Veritzen's plan to her.

"That means he's going out after him," she said, "and that he's afraid—"

I interrupted her summarily.

"What is Steve Redfield's telephone number?" I asked.

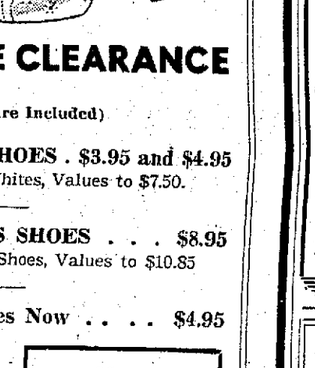
West disliked every possible lead in his hand, so selected the club 8, the Q falling to the A. Not wishing to risk the loss of two spade tricks if West had the K and either opponent four, South led his spade 3, hoping West had the K, which he did. West still hated to lead from his red suits, so returned the spade 2 to the Q, and the J was cashed before South led for the heart J finesse. Came then the heart K, spade A, spade 7, club K and club J.

South had discarded the dummy down to the heart A-8 and diamond A-9, retaining his own three diamonds when he led the club J. West, with the virtually marked diamond K-10 and the heart 9-7, was squeezed. If he tossed off a diamond, the dummy would have shed the heart 8, and the last three tricks could have been the diamond A, heart A and diamond Q. But West chose the equally bad alternative of the heart 7, so the diamond 9 was thrown from dummy, and the diamond A, heart A and heart 8 made the finishing tricks.

All that South had to find fortuitous to make his contact by this method was the spade K with West, the suit split 3-2 or 4-1, the heart Q with East, hearts divided 3-3 or with West holding four, and either East holding the club Q or a club lead.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

If you had doubled South's 5-Spades in the West, and South had redoubled, what defense would you offer?

RECEIVES BIDS ON REPAIRS OF 9 ROADS HERE

State Says Findlay Concern Low on 35 Miles of Fixing State Routes In Area.

C. E. Edgington and sons, Findlay, O., contractors, were listed today by the state highway department as low bidders on the resurfacing of 35.2 miles of nine state routes in Richland and Crawford counties.

The Findlay firm's bid was $45,668 on a project estimated to cost $45,901. Sections of state routes 61, 39, 96, 98, 178, 182, 19, 100 and 103 are included in the project. They will be treated with bituminous materials.

The Mansfield Asphalt Paving company, Mansfield, was the only bidder on a $10,650 resurfacing project on state route 250 and U. S. route 42 in Ashland, but the bid exceeded the estimate and was not considered. It exceeded the estimate by $1,600. Highway officials said the project, calling for resurfacing of a half mile of the two highways with asphaltic concrete, will be re-advertised.

Meanwhile, Richland county commissioners today had approved a $4,300 reconstruction project involving five roads in Sharon township. County equipment and workers will be used on the project and the cost will be shared by the county and Sharon township trustees.

Routes scheduled for improvement under the contract include the Horning, Smiley Avenue, Mickey, Weller and Ganges-Shelby roads.

HISTORY MADE BY OLD KETTLE

Was First Used For Making Sugar; Now Reposes on University Campus.

BATON ROUGE, La.—(U.P.)—An old iron kettle, blackened by the many fires over which it has hung in the past 200 years, rests on the campus of Louisiana State University as a memorial to the man who made Louisiana's sugar industry possible.

Indigo was the money crop when the French planter aristocracy owned plantations that stretched for miles along the bayous and lakes of Southern Louisiana at the end of the 18th century. Jean Etienne de Bore was no exception.

DeBore was born in the Illinois section of the Louisiana Purchase territory. At the age of 4, he was taken to France by his parents where he received his education and later married into large colonial holdings.

He returned to New Orleans with his wife about the time of the French Revolution and established his plantation on what now is a part of Audubon Park near the city limits.

There he engaged in the planting of indigo. When a blight, however, wiped out the indigo crops, DeBore and others of the planters were faced with bankruptcy.

Many planters already had tried to granulate sugar from cane juice, but their experiments failed time after time. DeBore, over-riding the protests of his wife, decided to have a fling at the sugar business. He planted his entire plantation in sugar cane, built a small sugar mill and imported an experienced sugarmaker. His experiment attracted wide attention.

A crowd gathered at the sugar house one day in December, 1795. A large black pot had been placed over a hot fire. As many as could crowd into the house watched the cane juice for a sign of granulation. Finally, small white spots appeared on the surface.

Historians say that on that day the sugar industry in Louisiana was born.

Coast Guardsmen Use Tents For Traveling Home

BOSTON —(NS)— Many strange sights have been witnessed on the Boston waterfront but perhaps the oddest of all are the tent homes of 16 coast guardsmen, which have been pitched in the yard of an East Boston boiler works plant.

The coast guardsmen are on duty over five foreign ships, which have been taken into custody by the United States government. For a time they were living aboard coast guard vessels, stationed in the harbor, but the vessels have been ordered to other duty so the men were given two large tents, which they pitched in the yard of the boiler works.

Most of them are westerners and have never been in Boston or the east before. They have been spending their leisure time touring about the city, inspecting points of historic interest.

SPANISH STUDY FOUND ON RISE

WPA Reports That Language Outranks All Others In Requests For Tutors.

NEW ORLEANS —(U.P.)— The United States' good neighbor policy has brought New Orleans under Spanish domination again.

Public schools reported an increased enrollment in Spanish classes, second-hand book stores said the demand for textbooks was much greater than the supply. The Works Projects administration made a survey of relief rolls in Louisiana to find qualified teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

The WPA reported that Spanish far outranked in popularity any other language in the number of requests for teachers. Approximately 300 persons in New Orleans studying the language in off-hours required the full attention of two WPA teachers.

The survey of relief rolls, made as a preliminary to filling demands for additional classes, found 21 teachers of Spanish and two of Portuguese.

The first WPA classes have been attended principally by business women, generally stenographers hoping to find better jobs as a result of their knowledge. Some were men anxious to make connections in South and Central America. There were even a few Central Americans who said they could learn English quicker by attending the classes.

Many of the classes are held during the noon hour. Others meet after work—4:30 to 5 p. m.—and in the evening. Textbooks are supplied by the state department of education, the official sponsor of the WPA adult education project, and are the same as those used in public schools.

James H. Crutcher, state WPA administrator, said that Spanish should be the secondary language of the United States.

Of Alaska's 72,000 population, about 39,000 are white.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

VENDOL RESULTS WERE PERFECT

"About two weeks ago I began taking Vendol, and actually believe the first dose helped me, and now I'm really amazed at the change this splendid medicine has made in my feelings," says Mrs. Vida McConnell, living at Warren, Ohio.

"My troubles can be traced to constipation resulting in a sour, gassy, upset stomach with rifting up hot liquids containing bits of food, and so much gas in my stomach that I was terribly bloated after meals and suffered palpitation and shortness of breath due to constipation.

"Vendol is the finest thing I ever tried for my troubles, giving the temporary relief from constipation I needed so badly; then those symptoms like upset stomach troubles due to constipation just pass away. Vendol gets my praise, and I advise everyone suffering the same way to take Vendol." Buy the larger size bottles for economy.

PARIS CHANGES CRIMP STYLES IN ARGENTINE

Latin American Women Are In Confusion Now Over Clothes.

BUENOS AIRES — (U.P.) — The blackout of Paris as a world style center still leaves the Argentine woman somewhat bewildered about her clothes.

Before the fall of France, Argentine women were able to receive new styles in dress a full season before the women of the United States, due to reverse seasons in the north and south temperate zones. Thus, for example, while new styles were being prepared for the following season in the United States they were being worn in Buenos Aires.

Today all this is reversed, and fashions in clothes here are a season behind the United States. New York fashions exert some influence here through the large women's magazines dedicated to modes, and to a limited extent, Hollywood trends in women's clothes are noticed. There also is a certain London influence on styles, through British-owned department stores.

Leading Argentine style experts say, however, that except for sports clothes, New York and Hollywood fashions are too extreme for the more conservative and modulated tastes of the Argentine women. Colors are too flamboyant and lines too extreme.

The Argentine woman prefers black and dark colors. Efforts of Paris designers to alter this taste in the past repeatedly failed, and even before the war started Paris styles were subjected to modifications for the local market. Style trends this season as always, are toward simplicity of color and design. The only gaiety Argentine dress is in such accessories as handbags and certain articles of costume women permit themselves in their jewelry, despite the rather unhappy interpretation of Argentina of certain United States-produced films of recent screening.

Although women of this country dress more quietly than in the United States, their clothes neither are dowdy nor severe. Wealthy and upper middle-class women spend freely for clothes, and generally the people are well-groomed. Most of the outlay for women's wardrobes go for day clothes and early evening dresses. Evening gowns are worn principally for only the most formal occasions, such as the opera and state functions. The Argentines do most of their entertaining at home, and society women rarely attend night clubs, hence they have little use for formal evening wear.

Saida (or Sidon) in Syria is believed to be the most northern point visited by Jesus.

War Has Caused Marked Change In Chinese Drama

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—(INS)—China's epic struggle for survival has at last, after uncounted centuries, brought a change in Chinese drama, reports Soo Yong, Hawaiian born Chinese actress who knows both the Celestial stage and the Hollywood sound track.

"The Chinese theater is in transition," she reported, "and one phase at least of the new development has been terribly important.

"Students and professors wonder through the country nowadays, producing such plays as 'The Sack of Nanking' and 'Death to the Invader.'

"They use modern costumes and real properties, even real weapons. Those plays might be called 'living newspapers.' They are of vast help in areas where Chinese peasants have not yet learned to read and write."

CYCLIST TOO TIPSY TO RIDE

Biggest U. S. Tax Bill Heads for House

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Broadway Bulletin Board.

JOHN EMERY, the actor (Tallulah Bankhead's ex), and Tamara Geva the dancer, are talking Yuma-talk . . . Football Star Tommy Harmon and cinema starlet Kay Aldridge, who was once considered the prettiest of the Powers babes, are a heart toddy.

Dorothy Kilgallen

Tony Martin and Lana Turner are supposed to be cooling, and she's allegedly carrying a torch for another fellow. So last week he gave her a ring with a great big diamond in it! . . . One of the major film studios is due for a huge shake-up in the top ranks. Two of the biggest biggies are out.

The reports that Cary Grant and Phyllis Brooks have resumed their old romance are premature. He's still Barbara Hutton's babee . . . Their friends are trying to reconcile the Irwin (playwright) Shaws.

The Broadway grapevine reports that the real reason behind the bankruptcy proceedings filed last week by showgirl Myra Stephens was her desire to protect herself from a dentist—well known as a Times Square wolf—who was demanding that she "date him or pay up." Another Riviera chorine is said to be considering the same method of getting rid of him.

David Rose and Judy Garland, who were to have been married earlier this month, have postponed the nuptials—probably until September.

FARMERS URGED TO STORE WHEAT IN HOME BINS

State AAA Chairman Charges Big Elevators Refuse Grain to Cut Price.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Caught in an abnormal flood of newly-harvested wheat, Ohio farmers were urged today to avail themselves of makeshift storage space on their farms to thwart alleged manipulation to force down the market price of wheat.

The advice was given by Elmer F. Kruse, St. Mary's farmer and state chairman of the agricultural adjustment administration.

In a broadside charge, Kruse declared that operations of big elevator terminals in Ohio have refused to store AAA "loan" wheat offered by Ohio farmers in an effort to knock down the market price at the height of an unusually quick harvest season.

As circumstantial evidence of manipulation, Kruse said the open market quotation on No. 2 red soft winter wheat has dropped six to seven cents a bushel since the "embargo" on loan wheat was clamped on by tacit if not public agreement on July 16.

"The Ohio farmer as a result is paying the bill for this price manipulation," Kruse charged.

He said there was no "apparent" reason for the terminal storage points to refuse to store grain offered by farmers who wished to seal their crops and receive a federal loan of $1.08 a bushel, marketing it later when the price advances.

"Shortly before the harvest season, we met with operators of the big terminals and they assured us they had capacity to store 48 million bushels of the new Ohio crops," the state AAA chief explained.

"Now, with harvest only two-thirds complete, they say they haven't any more room for loan wheat. The estimated Ohio production was 42 million bushels and it is not running more than 44 million in actual harvest. There is no apparent reason why they should refuse loan wheat and depress the price."

Kruse said the terminal elevators are located at Toledo, Cincinnati, Columbus, Fremont, Fostoria and Maumee. He said there was no lack of cooperation among the small rural elevators but they never pretended to have storage space for the big 1942 crop

In an effort to halt this "undermining" of the AAA program, Kruse urged farmers to store their current wheat at home.

Police Lieut. Bruce Friday has more than a nodding acquaintance with fish these days. Tuesday while angling for the finny tribe at Charles Mill dam with Detective Lee Remy, Lieut. Friday discovered that his line was tangled in some bushes along the shoreline. While standing with one leg on the stump and another on the boat, the lieutenant slipped and fell into the lake. This was the second time he has suffered the same kind of a fall and both have occurred while he was fishing with Remy. Sabotage!

At the request of the International Baby Chick association, Bowden sent a model pen of chicks to its convention in Kansas City. A bon voyage party was held for the aristocratic chicks Sunday.

She ate some—green ones—the day before and sure enough, they had no respect for the medical profession. She spent the day in bed and other nurses said today that she's in "pretty fair" condition.

Investigating an early morning racket in the vicinity of Central park a couple of days ago, police found an aged man taking aluminum cups and pans from a large bag and throwing them at the Hitler picture above the pile of aluminum. He was having so much fun that the officers decided to let him alone despite the audience that gathered to watch the exhibition.

COMMITTEE PUTS O. K. ON NEW MEASURE

Would Place Levy on Radio Programs, Billboards; Incomes Hit.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A $3,529,200,000 tax bill—biggest in the nation's history and designed to make both individuals and corporations dig deeper than ever to help finance the defense program—headed toward house consideration today after approval by the ways and means committee.

The committee stamped its final approval on the measure last night after a number of last-minute changes, among them inclusion of unprecedented levies on radio broadcasts and billboards.

New surtaxes on individual net incomes starting at 5 per cent on the first dollar of taxable income and ranging up to the present maximum of 75 per cent on incomes over $5,000,000 would virtually treble the payments of persons in the lower and middle brackets. For instance, a married man with two children and $3,000 of net income who now pays no tax would pay $11 under the proposed levies. A man with the same number of dependents and a $5,000 net income who now pays $74.80 would pay $202.40.

The committee struck out proposed excise taxes on candy and chewing gum, which would have yielded $18,200,000, and taxes on electric signs and cutlery.

Another last-minute change provided for a slight additional boost in estate and gift taxes to produce $38,000,000 more than was previously agreed upon tentatively.

The measure was scheduled for committee introduction in the house today and administration leaders planned to take it to the floor Tuesday for three days of debate. Passage of the measure next week in approximately its present form was virtually assured, leaders said. Major changes might be made, however, when the bill reaches the senate.

In boosting the corporation taxes, the committee concentrated chiefly on excess profits, hiking the rates which now range from 25 to 50 per cent to 35 to 60 per cent and revamping the method of computing such profits.

It also voted to impose surtaxes of 5 per cent on the first $25,000 of taxable income and 6 per cent on all over that figure.

Outstanding among the excise taxes on goods and services were a proposed $5 annual use tax on all passenger automobiles, airplanes and yachts less than 28 feet long; $25 annually on coin operated amusement and gambling devices such as slot and pin-ball machines; a 7 per cent tax, double the present levy, on the sale of new automobiles, and 10 per cent retail sales taxes on toilet preparations, including cosmetics, jewelry and furs.

OHIO COLLEGES BOOST CHARGES

Eight Institutions Plan Hikes In Fees, But One Lops $15 From Tuition.

(By Associated Press)

At least eight Ohio colleges today reported increased charges—fees, tuition or board bill—for the 1941-42 school year.

The boosts range from $5 a semester for certain fees at Findlay college to $100 a year in the Western Reserve university medical school.

Most of the Buckeye colleges, however, planned to start the fall term without tuition or fee hikes despite increased expenses in certain technical fields.

One college—Rio Grande—announced a $15 tuition reduction for the year.

The University of Cincinnati announced a tuition hike of $10 for the first semester and $5 for the second semester to meet "the increased cost of coal, supplies, equipment and general maintenance resulting from the national emergency."

Rising faculty salaries was given as the reason for a $25 a year increase at Heidelberg college.

John Carroll university and Hiram college added $20 and $30, respectively, to their board bills to cover the advancing costs of food.

Ohio State university reported higher fees in certain technical fields and Wooster announced a $25 increase in fees in an effort to balance its budget.

EX-DETECTIVE FACES LIFE FOR PART IN ABORTION SYNDICATE

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO — A former ace detective on the State's Attorney's staff faced life imprisonment as a murderer today, convicted in a climactic episode of a widespread inquiry into an alleged million-dollar abortion syndicate.

Behind the conviction of Daniel Moriarity, 40, for murdering pretty Ada Jane Martin, 24, by mistake lay a trail spotted by two suicides, suspension of a second detective and dismissal of two veteran assistant prosecutors who denied charges that they had taken bribes from the syndicate.

A member of the state's attorney's police for eight years, Moriarity was convicted last night by a criminal court jury.

Moriarity, who confessed — and later denied—he was a go-between for the syndicate and three members of the state's attorney's staff at $100 a month, pleaded innocence because of temporary insanity.

On April 17 Dr. Henry Millstone, awaiting arraignment on a charge of conspiracy to commit abortion, killed himself after writing notes detailing operations of the ring.

Two weeks later, his widow, facing a similar charge, ended her life with poison.

The heat on him, Moriarity went to the home of Mrs. Ada Martin, one of ten charged with conspiracy to commit abortion, the morning of April 29, intending to kill her and thus prevent his exposure as a fixer.

By mistake he shot her daughter, asleep in her mother's bed, then tried twice to take his own life.

Moriarity confessed he had accepted $7,500 from Mrs. Martin to fix cases.

Inmate Eludes Guards Hunting Him In Field of Tall Corn.

James Plummer, 21, of Warren county, found the tall corn to his liking at Ohio State Reformatory's farm yesterday afternoon, and disappeared into a corn field near where he was working.

Plummer, who was received at the institution in October, 1939, is serving a one to 15-year sentence on a charge of breaking and entering, Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent, said today.

Although OSR guards surrounded the field into which Plummer fled they failed to find him. He may have boarded a freight train which passed near the farm at the time, according to Glattke.

Cultists Tried to 'Beat Devil Out' Of Him, Man Says

DAYTON—(U.P.)—Merlin Hulse, 21-year-old Dayton youth, related today how a religious cult literally tried to "beat the devil out of him."

Hulse, plaintiff in a case of assault and battery, said the doctrine of the Northridge cult included belief in devils that could lodge themselves in the bodies of persons and could be dislodged only by prayer.

Hulse charged at a justice court hearing last night that two members of the cult, Roland Redding and Robert Leonard, attempted to beat him to force the devils away. Hulse said that when he attempted to leave the church, the two men held him while Mrs. Ethel Redding, a third defendant, sat beside him on the floor, stroking his hair and praying that the evil spirits might leave his body.

Robert Hulse, father of the plaintiff, testified that when he called for his son July 3 at the home of Mrs. Redding, he heard cries for help.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Laraine Day, skipping from movie to movie with the speed of any new "find," doesn't get enough theater in a regular eight-hour working day. She plays at it after hours and between pictures, too.

Laraine is director, producer, sometime-writer and sometime-actress in her own Wilshire Players Guild, an amateur group which stages regular shows and has made at least one movie (16 mm.) of its own.

"Just people who're interested in shows," she describes her group. "We have a lot of fun, and we get some good talent besides our own. Jo ann Sayers, now playing in 'My Sister Eileen' in New York, was our dance director until she left. The King's Men are going to sing for us in our next show, a mystery musical called 'Whodunit?' How do we get them to work for us? Why, we just ask them and hope they'll say yes."

The last production, authored by Laraine, was "Lamebrains and Daffodils"—which may give you an idea. She played a bit in it and by her own account gummed up the works.

"Everybody remembered everything—except me. I was so busy worrying about the others, and then I found myself on the stage without my props, and forgot my lines."

When she isn't busy with her theater group, the Utah-born actress may be found umpiring a church group debate on such a subject as "Resolved, that tinfoil has proved more beneficial to mankind than appendectomies." Laraine thinks those up herself—which may be surprising to fans who remember her rather dignified portrayals in "Foreign Correspondent," "My Son, My Son!" and other films.

"I am dignified—sometimes," she twinkles. "I'm what Dan Dailey, jr., calls a 'hepsquare.' A 'hep' is a person in the jive, who swings it and knows all the answers at a jam session. A 'square' is one who goes in for culture and uplift. I'm on the outer fringes of both—hence a hepsquare."

SNAKES STROLL IN MANHATTAN

Pop-Eyed Cops Pick Up Rattlers Along Madison Avenue.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Two five-foot long rattlesnakes were caught today—and of all places—along Madison avenue in the heart of uptown Manhattan.

Pop-eyed policemen, who found the reptiles snaking along under a lamp post at 3 a. m., scopped them into a bag with a broom, and called zoo officials to take them away.

Just where the rattlers came from remained a mystery.

COUNTY TO BUY OWN GASOLINE FOR VEHICLES

Filling Station at County Garage To Be Used For All Motor Equipment.

Acting on an order from county commissioners, Richland county officials today were obtaining gasoline and oil for county-owned cars and trucks from a filling station at the county garage on North Main street.

Commissioners said the change was effected as an economy measure. They said the county can purchase gas and oil in large quantities at lower prices than at filling stations in the city.

In recent years, the county's gas and oil business has been distributed among a number of independently-owned service stations. Only the county road department trucks and cars have been fueled at the county garage.

Commissioners did not estimate the probable savings as a result of the new purchase plan, but they emphasized that the county will be able to buy gasoline in 5,000-gallon lots at a considerable reduction in price.

County vehicles will continue to go to other service stations for oil changes, commissioners said.

Officials and county employes affected by the order include the sheriff, auditor, county home superintendent, commissioners, dog warden, and engineer.

The central purchase plan also will eliminate confusion in the handling of bills from a number of service stations, the commissioners pointed out. They said bills frequently were not turned in on time and occasionally were not made out properly, necessitating an investigation before they could be paid.

First European to visit South America was Columbus, in 1498, on his third visit to the New World.

Retired Engineer Obtains Airplane Pilot's License

DELTA, Colo. —(INS)— Retired more than a year ago as too old to pilot a railroad locomotive, Starr Nelson, 75, of Delta, now holds a license to pilot an airplane.

The veteran engineer, who for years guided "Old 169" over tortuous Marshall pass on the continental divide for the Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad, now flies high over the same rugged trail in a modern plane. He started taking flying lessons shortly after his retirement and plans to buy his own ship this year.

Nelson recently attended ceremonies at Montrose, Colo., and ironically watched "Old 169," the ancient locomotive he outlasted, dedicated as a monument to pioneer railroaders.

Shipboard Romance + + + + + +

Sylvia Taylor

(Copyright, 1941)

CHAPTER XVI

She undressed and slipped into bed, telling herself that she must regain control of her emotions. If she made the wrong move now, all was lost. If she became hysterical and told the whole story, disaster would be sure to follow.

The doctor arrived almost at once. He was a kindly man, who took her pulse, looked at her tongue and asked her how she felt.

"It's a headache," Doris said briefly.

"Probably too much excitement," he said reassuringly. "I'll leave you these pills. Take one every two hours. You'll be all right in the morning."

* * *

When he was gone Doris sank back upon her pillow and closed her eyes. The medicine helped her to relax. Tomorrow she would be all right. She must be. She must go on deck and pretend. She must play this game through to the end. No matter how her heart was broken, she must go on.

By the time May Whittier came back from dinner Doris had control of herself.

May regarded her suspiciously. "What's wrong? Are you and Jimmy quarreling?"

Doris forced a smile to her pale lips. "Of course not! Just a headache."

May ran a comb through her red hair. "I suppose you're still planning to be married in New York."

"Yes." Doris forced herself to sound convincing. "Just as soon as we dock."

"Well," May said, "I hope you make it. There's many a slip, you know."

Doris was too absorbed in her troubles to attach any meaning to this remark. May Whittier was a very minor annoyance compared with the new turn her affairs had taken.

"I wouldn't worry about it if I were you," she told May lightly.

Not until May had gone did Doris wonder if she could possibly know about Malone's being her father. If May found out, she would tell Jimmy at once. But how could May know? George Malone would be too clever to let her discover her secret.

Doris realized that no matter how she viewed the situation Jimmy was lost to her forever. There was nothing that could save their love now. This was the end. With no one to see, Doris turned her face into the pillows and shed the bitterest tears of her life.

* * *

The next day was the most difficult that Doris could remember in her nineteen years. Jimmy was waiting anxiously for her at the breakfast table.

"How do you feel, darling?"

She smiled as she took her seat. "I never felt better."

He took her at her word. After breakfast they played shuffleboard then had a swim. As they lay resting at the side of the pool they were joined by May Whittier.

"Three days to New York," she reminded them gaily, throwing herself down on a green mat which was particularly becoming to her. Doris noticed that May always placed herself at the best possible advantage before Jimmy.

"Three days — that's too long for me," he said, looking at Doris. "I'd like to get off and swim."

"Where are you going to be married?" May asked, all interest.

Jimmy shrugged. "Don't know yet. Why?"

"Have you told your family?" May inquired with a touch of malice.

"No. I'll cable them from New York."

Doris realized that she was being left entirely out of the conversation but she was relieved that she did not have to talk. It was bad enough to have to listen to the plans for her wedding, the wedding that could never take place.

"People will be so surprised," May went on. "There will be a lot of publicity, I suppose."

"Not if I can help it," Jimmy said grimly.

"But how can you?" May inquired innocently. "Doris winning a radio contest and spending the money on a trip to South America is going to make a beautiful story."

Jimmy did not seem to feel the sting of her words, but Doris knew that May was trying to make her feel ill at ease; trying to insinuate that she had taken the trip in search of a husband and caught Jimmy Allen. But she need not have worried! There would not be anything to print. Her love for Jimmy would be just another shipboard romance, ended when they reached land.

Already a plan was forming in Doris's mind to keep Jimmy from any danger of scandal. Just before the boat docked she would plead for time by asking him to wait a month before they were married. She would insist that no one announce the engagement, and that they did not see each other during the four-weeks period. At the end of that time she could definitely release him. George Malone would have nothing to say because it would be too late. And Doris would be free to turn her father over to the police.

It was a cruel trick to play on Jimmy, but it would be a worse one to marry him. Sooner or later Malone must be apprehended. If the father of Mrs. Jimmy Allen were exposed as a criminal, Jimmy would suffer far more. He would not believe her if she told him the truth now because the truth was too fantastic. And in the face of his first marriage, a second scandal was too much to expect him to take. Doris did not expect it. Better to have him think she did not love him than that she had tricked him into marriage. After all, Jimmy was only human, and the circumstantial evidence was all against her.

"Why so low?" May's voice brought her back to earth. "You look positively miserable."

Doris stretched in the bright sunshine. "I'm tired," she complained. "I don't know why I ever thought ocean trips were good for the nerves."

"Love is such a strain," May said cattily. "You can't blame that on the ocean."

Jimmy passed around the cigarets. "Little did I know this time last year that this would happen," he said cheerfully. "I thought I was through with women forever."

"And by next year," May put in, "you may feel the same way again."

It was amazing what she got away with, Doris thought, seeing Jimmy accept the remark as a joke. May, as "an old friend," walked where angels feared to tread.

Doris watched as May poised on the diving board and executed a neat dive into the pool.

"Not bad," Jimmy approved. "May's really all right. She can be mean at times, but at heart she's a good kid."

How easily fooled men were! Jimmy accepted women at their face value, trusting all, in spite of his pretended cynicism. It was little wonder that a mercenary chorus girl had tricked him into a loveless marriage. How could he be so trusting? Doris felt her resolutions weaken as she looked at him. A towel was thrown carelessly across his tanned shoulders, the sleek hair was still wet from the swim. He was her ideal man.

"How can I go on with this?" Doris asked herself desperately. She wondered what would happen if she said, "Jimmy, George Malone is my father. He's wanted by the police. He's planning to blackmail me after we're married." . . . Would he believe her if she said, "Darling, I didn't know he was my father. He deserted my mother when I was a baby. It was pure coincidence that he was on the same boat." . . . Would he believe such a weird story? And even if he wanted to, the seed of doubt would have been planted. Would he want his children to be the grandchildren of such a man?

"Jimmy," she said suddenly, "let's not tell anyone else we're going to be married. We don't want any publicity. Does there have to be?"

"There will be reporters to meet the ship," he reminded her.

"You don't have to tell them, do you?"

"I'd like to tell the whole world," he said fondly.

"But, darling, you said you didn't want any publicity."

"I don't want to be hounded by reporters," he admitted.

"Then don't say anything about it," she pleaded.

He laughed. "All right, sweetheart! If that's the way you want it."

"What about May?"

"I'll speak to her about it."

Doris hoped that May would agree. If there were no publicity about their engagement there could be no connection between George Malone's daughter and Jimmy — when that engagement was broken. Jimmy Allen would not be involved in any way when her father was sent to jail—or back to jail. Maybe then Jimmy would see the story in the newspapers.

She put her hand in his. "Jimmy, I love you. You believe that, don't you? No matter what happens?"

He pressed her hand to his lips. "Sweetheart, nothing's going to happen. Nothing can happen now. You're mine and I'm never going to let you go."

She noticed the small scar above his eyes, almost white against the deep tan he had acquired the last week. It was the first time she had been curious enough to ask, "How did you get that scar, Jimmy?"

He laughed shortly. "My wife," he informed her, "didn't like the idea of getting a divorce. When I found out that she had married me for money, I told her to get out, and she took a shot at me."

"Oh, Jimmy! How awful!"

"Awful is no word for it," he told her seriously. "But I suppose I was to blame. I married her on a mad impulse. I didn't know her very well but I did think she loved me. What a chump I was! It was six months later that I overheard her telling her girl friend how she had tricked me. Even wangled the introduction to meet me with that in mind. She had boasted to her friends that she was going to be Mrs. Jimmy Allen, and she got it done."

Doris knew, now more than ever, that she could not tell him the story of her father. In desperation she almost wished that Jimmy had fallen in love with some other girl on the boat. Some girl who was in his own circle, a girl who could never bring a whisper of scandal to his name. Still, May Whittier, who was in Jimmy's social circle, was not above marrying for money. Poor Jimmy! Was he never to escape heartache and unhappiness through women?

Evening came and the strain began to show on Doris. Deep circles appeared beneath her wistful eyes. She had to add rouge to the pale cheeks. After dinner she went for a solitary walk on deck. Jimmy had disappeared for the moment, but she was grateful he was not with her when she saw George Malone approaching.

"Three more days," he reminded her.

"I know." She looked into the water where a million tropical stars were reflected. How could life be so tragic on such a beautiful night?

"Have you been thinking about my proposition?"

"What do you think?" she snapped.

"Well? You're going through with it?"

LAW REQUIRES CORRECT SOCIAL SECURITY NAME

Mansfield Office Gives Help In Changes To 'European Name' Regulations.

Dozens of workers with two names, their original European and the new "Americanized" one, are being aided in their attempt to prevent confusion in employment records by the Mansfield field office of the Old Age and Survivors insurance bureau.

Because of the difference between their shortened names which appear on social security cards and their original ones which are recorded on their birth certificates, many of the workers have experienced great difficulty in keeping work records and jobs.

Edward S. Broughton, manager of the office, announced today that his office will aid workers now needing help in convincing employers that their birth certificates and social security names are for the same person.

The confusion arose when several workers gave their shortened name for social security purposes. Their birth certificates, which are requested by employers now, usually carry their longer and usually European name.

Broughton said that his office is handling the changes for all workers in Richland, Morrow, Knox, Crawford and Ashland counties. No charge is being made for the issuing of the duplicate cards with the original name of the workers.

Duplicate cards will carry the same number but a different name as that issued to the workers formerly, according to Broughton.

OLD AGE BENDS NOTED VIADUCT

City and State Argue Over Repair Cost of Famous Texas Structure.

DALLAS, Tex.—(U.P.)—This city's aging Houston street viaduct, "longest viaduct of its kind in the world" when it was built 29 years ago, has a bad case of falling arches.

All concerned agree that the mile-long-four-lane concrete motorway, first of five to span the narrow Trinity river and its wide bottomlands, needs repairing. But the city of Dallas, the county of Dallas and the state of Texas through its highway department are squabbling as to which should do the job. Cost would be $30,000 a campaign for a permanent cross-river structure ended with erection of the viaduct at a cost of $750,000. Dallas county still owes $203,000 on the original viaduct bonds issued in 1909.

"The state highway department has profited by more than $700,000 in gasoline taxes on fuel used by vehicles in traversing this structure," said County Commissioner Buck Frank. "And still they balk at spending $30,000 to repair it."

The motorway, one end completed to a point near a giant cottonwood tree at which the ferry Nellie Maurine anchored during the 1908 flood, has accommodated approximately 160,000 000 vehicles in its 29 years

One span of the many-arched viaduct has partly given way at the new channel of the Trinity Cars and trucks still cross at a 15,000-a-day rate, there being little possibility of a complete structure failure, but the repair work needed is urgent.

The viaduct, a show-place of the city when built in 1909, made possible all year travel between Dallas proper and its suburb of Oak Cliff An old road which crossed the flatlands between the two sections of the city was passable in dry weather but was inundated during spring rains In 1908 came a major floor on the Trinity, disrupting transportation between the inhabited sections for weeks and

Magnesium Now Called Essential Element In Diet

BERKELEY, Cal.—(INS)—Lack of magnesium can cause a bottleneck in your assimilation of food as well as in national defense, University of California researchers have discovered

Rats fed a diet deficient in magnesium were unable to get the full value from their food, and wasted 18 per cent of its nourishment, Drs. Max Kleiber, David M. Greenberg and Muriel Boelter reported.

Magnesium apparently operates to slow up the rate at which the human body converts food energy into heat. When it is absent, the speed of conversion is too fast to afford sufficient food for body building purposes, the experiments indicated

TORPEDOED 3 TIMES

HALIFAX.—(U.P.)—George Graham is getting fed up with German torpedoes Three times ships have been shot out from under him since war started.

'Drinking Driver' Called Menace On State's Highways

HARRISBURG—(INS)—Eliminating not only the "drunken driver" but the "drinking driver" would help reduce the injury and death toll of motor accidents, Pennsylvania Motor Police Commissioner Lynn G. Adams is convinced.

The motorist who thinks he is "as good as new" after a couple of drinks is more of a menace on the highway than the 'staggering drunk driver" who almost always comes to grief before he can imperil the lives of other people, in Adams' opinion.

Convinced that liquor detracts from a person's ability to think, act and react quickly, Adams favors the enactment of legislation aimed to curb the drinking driver.

The state police official recommended more definite penalties so that tipsy drivers will know they are subject to at least a fine or moderate jail sentence.

The list includes Vrunia, Olrick, Euberta, Cohoma, Levera, Garvice, Azor, Vaudry, Lovie, Myral, Oyabin, Orgel, Othar, Omegia, Orjal, Urish, Virdo, Alva, Ledoyle, Ulay, Hyal and Osie.

Patterson Hurls Braves to 6-4 Victory Over Tiffin Hens

Sport Podge by REX HESS

I am seriously considering severing all connections with the Mansfield Braves.

BEFORE I LAND IN THE HOSPITAL!

And I ain't kiddin'. Much. This injury and hospital jinx is coming too close home. There aren't very many of us left.

It is a fact well known to one and all that the Braves haven't had their regular lineup on the field since a week before the season opened because of injuries to this or that member of the club.

And nearly every member of the team has been a victim of the jinx, from manager down to bat boy.

But when Bat Boy Don May returns to uniform after recuperating from a bum ankle, and his place is immediately taken on the ailing list by Mose McCullough, grounds keeper and bus driver, it's time for the front office and the boys in the press box to scramble for shelter.

* * *

"It was something you et, no doubt," the boys in the press, shack commiserated with Mose.

"That it was," retorted a pale and wan and woe-begone McCullough. "I ate a hot dog in Findlay and it's been barking all day. I have been a very sick man."

"That is too bad," we told him. "We wouldn't mind being sick if there were a good reason for it. But to get sick on a Findlay hot dog is a very poor way of entering the hospital.

"Are you sure those Findlays didn't put some of their famous oil on that canine?"

But he was up, and out of bed. We're happy Old Man Mose ain't dead.

I don't suppose you knew that the Mansfield Braves are the best fielding team in the Ohio State league, even though the boys haven't been fielding in their proper positions due to that injury jinx.

Neither did I. But Bill Snypp, Lima News sports editor, has compiled some averages showing the Braves at the top of the heap with a mark of .943 on 1131 putouts, 461 assists, 87 errors, 31 double plays, and 28 passed balls.

Next is Fremont with .933, Fostoria .931, Tiffin .930, Lima .928, and Findlay .922.

Next lowest in errors is Fremont with 118. The Green Sox lead in double plays with 45, with Mansfield second, and Lima and Findlay tied for third with 26.

Lima catchers have had the most passed balls, 32, with Mansfield second. Findlay has the best record here with only six pitches eluding the receiver.

Mansfield has the only triple play for the season, a play that went from pitcher to center fielder, to shortstop, to first, and is still disputed at Fremont where it occurred.

* * *

I hope we never speak this bit: "The team we got, good field, no hit."

Kovacs Upset At Seabright

Clown Prince Dropped By Unknown Gardnar Mulloy.

SEA BRIGHT, N. J.—(AP)—The path to a fourth singles championship in the Sea Bright tennis tournament has been smoothed considerably for Bobby Riggs—thanks to a player who never has beaten Riggs and who thinks Bobby still is the top man in the business.

The helpmate is Gardnar Mulloy, who scored the biggest upset thus far in the 54th annual tournament yesterday by eliminating lanky Frank Kovacs, the reformed "clown prince" of tennis.

Kovacs was Riggs' opponent in last year's final, and the former national champion had to play exceptional tennis to win the five-set battle.

Mulloy's performance against Kovacs was brilliant. Kovacs took the first set 6-3, but Mulloy kept hammering away and won the next two, 7-5, 6-4, with the best tennis the tournament has seen up to this stage.

* * *

The other men's quarter-finals pit top-seeded Don McNeill against Ted Schroeder and Frankie Parker against Wayne Sabin.

Tribesmen Blasted In Fourth

Yankee Shelling Sinks Wavering Indians, 3-2.

NEW YORK—(AP)—American league followers are in an "I-told-you-so" mood about the once-proud Indians.

When the season started the experts said weak hitting portended a Cleveland collapse. The Redskins went into the finale of a three-tussle series with New York today nine games behind and inability to hit put them there.

Yesterday the Tribe collected only five safe blows off Marius Russo in losing, 3 to 2, for its fourth setback by the Yanks in a week. Bob Feller stopped the leaders in a fifth battle.

In the five games Cleveland picked up only 32 hits. The pitchers meanwhile limited the Bronx Bombers to 39, a brand of hurling which with a little plate support would be good enough for at least a couple decisions.

Gerry Walker's fifth home run, Hal Trosky's double and singles by Oscar Grimes, Larry Rosenthal and Gene Desautels represented the entire Cleveland attack against Russo.

Southpaw Al Smith left the game after pitching home runs to Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller to allow the Yanks all their runs in the fourth. Joe Heving and Clint Brown gave up only one safety the rest of the distance, but without runs the good flinging went for naught.

Jim Bagby and Lefty Gomez were the opposing pitchers for the last contest. The Indians open a three-day series tomorrow in Boston.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have solved the Riddle, heretofore known as Elmer, the unsolved, and given the Cincinnati Reds their biggest shock since the New York Yankees swept the 1939 world series in four straight.

The young righthander had won 11 games without a defeat this season and become a symbol of hope for the beleaguered National league champions.

Last night, while a crowd of 30,000 at Crosley Field whooped in glee, Riddle gained a 4-0 lead over the groggy Dodgers in the first five frames and looked unbeatable. Then with two resounding salvos Brooklyn came from behind to crush him 5-4 and continue the first place deadlock in the senior circuit.

This was some sort of ironic justice catching up with the Reds for scoring five runs in the ninth to beat the Dodgers 5-4 the day before.

Frank McCormick, last year's most valuable player in the National league, was knocked out by one of Kirby Higbe's fast balls which struck him on the head, but an examination at a hospital showed he had received only a mild concussion.

The victory checked a Brooklyn skid just in time, for the St. Louis Cardinals nosed out the New York Giants 5-4 in a 12-inning thriller earlier in the day in an effort to gain exclusive possession of first place.

Lon Warneke held the Giants to two hits for eight innings, but the New Yorkers caught up with him in the ninth and tied the score. However, the Redbirds punched across the winning tally in the 12th.

Vince DiMaggio doubled with the bases loaded in the fourth inning of a night game to boost the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-2 decision over the Phillies and put the Buccaneers in a challenging spot, one game behind the fourth-place Giants.

In the other National league game, Dick Errickson's seven-hit hurling brought the Boston Braves a 6-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

The Chicago White Sox went on a rampage and whipped the Boston Red Sox 10-4 with a 17-hit bombardment, led by Taft Wright and Myril Hoag, each with four hits.

A two-run homer by Frank Hayes helped the Philadelphia Athletics nudge the St. Louis Browns 5-4 and move within one percentage point of the fifth-place Detroit Tigers, who were humbled for the 10th time in 14 meetings by the Washington Senators, 6-1.

Diz Breezes To Easy Win

Allows Only One Hit In Beating All-Stars.

Big Diz Kirkendall breezed through a one-hit victory over the Mansfield softball all-stars at the Fairground last night before a crowd of 530 fans as the Ferguson State Auditors chalked up a 6-0 decision for their 27th win in 31 games this season.

* * *

Willard Lockhart, best player on the field on either team, spoiled Kirkendall's bid for another in his string of over 75 no-hit games when he singled sharply to right in the fourth inning.

Diz was flashing his fast one, belt high and through the middle, for called strikes all evening, and getting the all-stars to swing at high ones because the pitches sailing across their eyes were the only ones they could see. And they saw those too lat-.

The Fergusons got only six hits off little Bud Plank of Ashland, but they took advantage of his early stage fright to rack up five runs in the first inning on only one single.

Boling led off with a walk and stole second. Brown flied to left. Hayes strolled and went to second on a wild pitch while Boling scored. And Hayes scored on another wild heave. Strausbaugh was safe on Lerner's error in right, and Hickel got the only hit of the inning to score Strausbaugh. Hickel scored on Woerth's wild throw to the plate, trying to cut off Strausbaugh.

The Auditors tallied again in the 6th without a hit, Phillips strolling with one away, going to second on an infield out, and denting the platter on a wild pitch.

* * *

The stars had only three men left on base, Lockhart, who singled in the fourth, Mapes, who was safe on Kirkendall's error in the fifth, and Judy, who drew a life on Hickel's error in the seventh.

Coast to Win After Gaining Early Lead

Mangan Leads Attack with Three Bingles in Five Trips to Dish

MANSFIELD BRAVES got back in the win column last night at Tiffin with a 6 to 4 victory, scoring all their runs in the first three innings off young Tom Warner, and forcing Don Bayliss to return to the hill for his second straight night of mound duty.

Bayliss stopped the Braves, but it was too late for the Hens, as Pat Patterson coasted through to victory on that 6-run lead.

The score was fairly close, but the Hens weren't in the ball game until the last of the ninth when they staged a two-run rally. Pat broke that off in time to save the victory for the Braves.

Tiny Tim Mangan led the attack on the Chicks with three singles in five trips to the platter, while Mutryn, Siegbert and Patterson crashed through with two-base clouts, and Bill Reinka smacked a three-bagger.

In the first inning Mangan singled with two down and scored on Mutryn's double, and Eddie came home on a two-base blow by Harry Siegbert.

The Braves drove Warner to the showers with a four-run rally in the third. Morse and Mangan singled, and both advanced on Mutryn's perfect sacrifice bunt. Siegbert walked, filling the bases.

Morse tallied on Bill Salem's fly deep to center field, and Bill Reinka cleared the paths with a triple. Manager Alex Clowson singled, scoring Reinka, and the game was in the bag.

The Braves remained a game and a half out of first place as the Fremont Green Sox walloped Fostoria 18 to 1. Findlay took Lima 13 to 6.

Pastor Whips Thompson

May Get Conn Bout as Result of Win.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Bob Pastor may have earned himself a money-bout with Billy Conn next fall by handing Turkey Thompson of Los Angeles a bad beating in ten rounds last night.

Mike Jacobs, a witness at the one-sided contest, stepped over after the decision and said:

"I'm trying to make a match between Pastor and Conn for next November. It may be in New York. It might be here."

That was all the New York promoter said—but that's all Uncle Mike had to say. When he attempts to make a match, he usually makes it

Jacobs obviously was impressed with Pastor's win over the dangerous, but ineffective Thompson. The ex-New York university collegian captured seven rounds, with two to Thompson and one even, in Referee Abe Roth's book.

Pastor weighed 186, Thompson 188

CHICAGO— (AP) —Ossie (Bulldog) Harris of Pittsburgh was one guest who didn't have a good time last night at Tony Zale's anniversary party.

* * *

The Gary, Ind., dynamiter, recognized by the national boxing commission as the middleweight champion, celebrated a year's reign as the titleholder by knocking Harris out in the first round of a scheduled 10-rounder in the Chicago Stadium outdoor arena.

* * *

Zale weighed 161, Harris 161¼.

PERPETUAL UNSEATED AS FAVORITE TROTTER

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Me. —(AP)—Dr. Hugh M. Parshall's Perpetual was unseated today as the leading contender to defeat the winter book favorite, Bill Gallon, in the approaching Hambletonian classic at Goshen, N. N.

The Urbana, O., reinsman's trotter was crowded out of the limelight by William N. Reynolds' Volstadt, which romped to victory in the $3,000 Richfield trophy for three-year-old trotters on last night's grand circuit card. Perpetual, conqueror of Volstadt last week in the national stake, finished fourth.

FORT DIX, N. J.—(INS)—American youth skilled in playing baseball should have little trouble using the army's newly-developed hand grenade. The grenade, which weighs only a quarter-ounce more than the regulation baseball, is lighter than the old type and thus less of a strain on the throwing arm, according to Major William E. Boone, of Miami, Fla., in a recent issue of the "Infantry Journal."

SELLING DRIES UP AS STEELS SHOW RECOVERY

Far Eastern News Chilling Speculation, But Russian Data Offsets It.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steels and specialties tapped out modest recoveries in today's stock market and selling tended to dry up in other quarters.

The proceedings were slow-going from the start but fractional advances had the best of it near the second hour.

Far eastern developments, brokers said, chilled speculative sentiment to some extent but signs of stronger Russian resistance to the Nazi thrust was an offsetting factor here.

Holders of building company issues found some satisfaction in the survey of the Engineering News-Record placing heavy construction awards for the week ended Tuesday at 293 per cent above the comparable period a year ago.

Market analysts saw further proof of mounting industrial activity in the Dun & Bradstreet summary of bank clearings for the week ended yesterday. For 23 principal cities the clearings total exceeded the like 1940 week by 21.4 per cent.

"The Relief Liverine Gave Was Almost Unbelievable" Says Tiffin Lady

She Took Famous Medicine After Reading What Others Wrote About It, Now She Tells Others How Liverine Gave Her Splendid Results.

"I have tried several different kinds of remedies but never got only temporary relief," says Mrs. Albert Haines, 25½ Carl street, Tiffin, Ohio.

"My husband and I are planning to make quite a long trip in a few days and I will be sure to take a bottle of Liverine with me and use some of it as a safeguard to my good health (during the present hot spell) I found that this medicine is wonderful to relieve that bilious, drowsy, fagged-out feeling, which had bothered me for a long time. I was constipated and had taken different laxatives, with only fair results. I was restless and sleepless at nights. Now after I have taken Liverine, my bowels are regular and I sleep better and wake up feeling fine and prepared for my day's work.

MRS. ALBERT HAINES

"My food didn't digest right and seemed to fill my stomach with gas and acidity. Sharp, sudden pains would rush through my shoulders and back. Liverine gave me fine relief from the above troubles and is certainly a worthwhile medicine."
